FIGHT PREDICTED IN CONGRESS OVER TARIFF VALUATION

House Opposes Senate Proposal to Assess Rates on Foreign Valuation

LOWER HOUSE STANDS FIRM ON AMERICAN VALUATION BASIS

Will Frame New Bill if Senate Plan Goes Through

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(By the Associated Press.)—A row between the house and senate over American valuation was forecasted on Saturday after it became known that republican members of the senate finance committee, in re-writing the so-called permanent tariff bill, had agreed tentatively on continuing the present principle of basing duties on foreign market value.

Chairman Fordney, of the house ways and means committee, declared that if this kind of a tariff measure was passed by the senate the house would write a new bill with an American valuation clause and "let the senate try again." If this should happen, it was said there would be little prospect of a tariff bill at this session unless congress remained on the job throughout most of the congressional election campaign.

Declaring that the house ways and means committee had written a bill on the American valuation plan on after full agreement with all of the republican members of the senate committee except Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, Representative Fordney said the abandonment of this principle by the senate committee majority was a "blowing the gentleman of the ways and means committee would not have done without consulting the finance committee."

"If they send a bill over here based on foreign valuation," he added, "they may expect that it will be sent back to the ways and means committee which will send back to the senate a bill also based on American valuation."

"I'll never agree to any foreign valuation and I do not know of any republican member of the house who will, or who wants foreign valuation."

RECOMMEND MORE SOLDIER HOSPITALS FOR MENTAL CASES

Twelve Thousand More Beds Needed Reports Veterans' Bureau

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Detailed recommendations for additional government hospital construction in various parts of the country for former service men, framed by a conference of specialists on mental diseases, were made public Saturday night by the Veterans' bureau.

The proposed program would include a total of 12,000 beds needed for the care of mental patients. Location of a hospital of 500 beds in the western part of Massachusetts was recommended, together with the construction of a new institution of 500 beds to be increased later to 1,000 beds, in District No. 7, comprising Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky. Disapproval of the use of the hospital at Maywood, Ill., was expressed and a new hospital of 1,000 beds to be increased to 1,500 beds was urged for District No. 8, comprising Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin.

A hospital of 500 beds was recommended for District No. 10, comprising Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana.

The program was said to be under consideration by the bureau, which was awaiting the action of congress upon pending legislation to provide $10,000,000 for future hospital construction.

"SKINNY! LOOKUT!" SCHOOLHOUSE BURNS FOR KIDS' HOLIDAY

All Day Classes of Burned Vocational School Dismissed for the Present

EVENING CLASSES GO ON AS USUAL AT HIGH SCHOOL

School Board Seeking Temporary Quarters for the Work

"O' H. SKINNY!" The cherished desire of kids for many generations, the roof of a school house that would be "burnt" indefinitely, is to be realized for at least a little while for some 575 youngsters, pupils of the vocational school at Sixth and Vine streets, which was damaged by fire Friday night.

Night School Classes as Usual

After a meeting of the school board Saturday afternoon it was announced that while all evening school classes that have been conducted in the vocational school will carry on as usual at the high school, it would be necessary to discontinue all day classes indefinitely, until some suitable temporary quarters can be found. Included in the classes thus dismissed is the seventh grade of the Washburn school, which has been meeting in the vocational school pending the completion of the new Washburn building. So the boys and girls of "Miss Hayden's Room" are the envy of all their classmates for the present.

All day classes, with the exception of the machine shop students of W. C. Wolf, it was announced, are dismissed "until further notice." The machine shop classes will meet at the high school. Persons desiring child labor permits, it was said, can arrange their affairs by calling 409—on the board of education office at the high school.

575 Kids Take Vacation

There are 575 pupils in the "day" classes at the vocational school, who are turned loose for the present, and 1292 in the various evening classes which will continue to meet at the high school. "That the night school classes will meet on the same evenings as heretofore was emphasized by John B. Coleman, head of the vocational school.

"In the meantime," said Mr. Coleman, "the board is seeking temporary quarters. If anyone knows of a building suitable that can be occupied at once they would render a real service by informing the board, or calling me at my home, 1704-C. A good sized house of eight or ten rooms would do for the present, if we can find nothing better adapted."

BANDITS IN CHICAGO FIRE ON STREET-CAR ONE DEAD; TWO HURT

CHICAGO, Ill.—Pouring a hail of bullets into a crowd waiting for a street car Saturday night, five unidentified men killed one man and seriously wounded two women. The dead man was believed to have been the victim of the assassins, the women having been accidentally hit by the flying bullets.

As the panic-stricken spectators fled, the gunmen ran to a waiting automobile and escaped, leaving their victims lying in the street. The only clue to the identity of the dead man was a card found in his pocket bearing the name "R. Coffard, Benton Harbor, Mich."

The police were unable to find any motive for the attack, although expressing the opinion that the murder resulted from a vendetta or feud in one of the city's foreign districts.

FLOUR MILL BURNS

ATCHISON, Kas.—The Blair mill here, one of the largest flour mills in Kansas, was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon with an estimated loss of $100,000. A fireman and two men assisting him were injured when a wall collapsed. The mill was established in 1868.

MAY BE NAMED TO FEDERAL BENCH IN PLACE OF LANDIS

JAMES H. WILKERSON
Former district attorney for the Northern Illinois district.

TWO CHICAGO MEN POSSIBILITIES FOR FEDERAL JUDGESHIP

Wilkerson and Schlesinger Among those Mentioned for Landis Post

CHICAGO, Ill.—Among those mentioned Saturday as possible successors to Federal Judge K. M. Landis, who has resigned, were Elmer Schlesinger and James H. Wilkerson, former district attorney. Mr. Schlesinger is connected with a law firm.

Judge Landis will end his seventeen years' service on the federal bench on March 1, to devote his entire time to his duties as national commissioner of baseball.

For the past fifteen months Judge Landis has held both positions, drawing $50,000 a year from organized baseball, less the $7,500 salary he received as federal judge.

At the time he took up his duties as baseball's dictator he was offered a contract for $50,000 a year but insisted that as long as he remained on the bench the amount of his salary as judge be deducted from the total paid him by baseball. The contract was for seven years.

"There are not enough hours in the day for these activities," Judge Landis declared. "There isn't time enough to do everything. I've worked hard, I've been getting up at 5 o'clock in the morning and have had to go without lunch for two weeks."

Informing that it had been rumored that he had been advised by his physician to go south for a rest, he snapped out: "I will take no vacation. I will continue at the bar. I am not going south."

He added that he would hold night sessions of his court to clear his desk before his resignation takes effect.

INDIAN SCHOOL AT TOMAH DESTROYED BY FIRE LATE SATURDAY

Total Loss of Building is Estimated at Approximately $30,000

FIRE ORIGINATING from an unknown cause Saturday night destroyed the entire main building and new addition of the Tomah Indian school, according to long distance information from the city late Saturday night.

With the destruction of the entire structure the total loss was placed at in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Reports from Tomah stated that the alarm was turned in shortly after nine o'clock and it was not until after an hour later that fire fighters had the flames within check. It was reported that the entire structure, including the school building and assembly hall, was destroyed by the fire.

While no definite cause was named, it was believed that the fire started in an ante-room adjoining one of the larger rooms of the school. It was learned that the assembly hall had been recently completed. Records and the entire equipment of the institution were included in the loss.

ORDER SUBJECT TO REFERENDUM OF MEMBERSHIP

General Suspension of Work Planned Unless New Wage Agreements are Concluded

RENEW DEMAND FOR SIX-HOUR DAY AND A FIVE-DAY WEEK

Union Leaders Opposed to Resolution for a Shorter Working Day

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—General suspension of work by union coal miners on April 1, subject to a referendum vote of the union membership, was ordered late Saturday by the convention of the United Mine Workers of America unless new wage agreements are readjusted before that date in both the bituminous and anthracite coal fields.

Demand Shorter Day

Renewal of the demand of union coal miners for a six-hour day and five days a week, a proposal that was made before the 1919 strike, was adopted by the convention as a part of the policy the union will seek to have included in new wage agreements, effective April 1. This demand had the united opposition of the union's leaders, including all district presidents.

The convention action for the shorter working day, however, was the only radical change in the wage proposal proposed by the union's scale committee, which centered the union's policy proposals toward retaining present basic wages for soft coal miners, and gaining increases for anthracite workers under threat of a general strike. The strike and wage proposals by the committee were adopted by overwhelming votes.

Unions to Vote on Strike

The strike declaration, however, provided for its submission to a referendum vote of the union membership before any walkout is ordered by officials.

In declaring for the six-hour day, the delegates overrode the committee recommendation for an eight-hour day under ground, and also voted down a proposal limiting actual work time to seven hours a day.

Bitter criticism of the union's floors was made by delegates in urging adoption of the six-hour day, but several officials took the floor in pointing for favorable action on the committee's eight-hour demand.

Leaders Oppose Six-Hour Day

Vice-President Philip Murray asked for the defeat of the six-hour day proposal so the union "can defend its demand before the American people," while Fred Monroy, secretary of the West Virginia district, declared that adoption of the six-hour day meant "suicide" for John Hessler and Leo Hall, presidents of the Indiana and Ohio districts, respectively, also fought the six-hour proposal. But the delegates argued that the six-hour proposal meant more continuous work, and called on the officers to "carry out our wishes."

Whether the six-hour day demand obtains for the anthracite district was another question raised from the floor by a delegate who pointed out that the anthracite workers were not pressing the proposal. President John L. Lewis replying to the question, said he was unable to advise the delegates as to the six-hour day as affecting anthracite workers.

Stiffen up Demands

The delegates also recorded an intention to stiffen up some of the minor demands recommended by the scale committee by substituting "demand" for "recommendation" where it appeared in the committee report.

Beside the work day and wage proposals adopted by the convention, its other demands as adopted, included the following:

"Removal of inequitable differentials" in wages, which would result in increased wages in some fields; pay and one-half for overtime work; double pay for Sunday and holiday work; elimination of the automatic penalty clause of present agreements providing for firing miners or operators for violation of contracts; and all new contracts to obtain for two years, beginning next April 1.

Turn Down Howat Appeal

As soon as it completed the adoption of the scale demands, the convention was ready to adjourn, but disorder broke out as an attempt was made to adjourn.

SEVEN THEATERS AT U. S. CAPITAL ORDERED CLOSED

Structural Weakness and Inadequate Fire Protection Found by Engineers

TEN OTHER THEATERS TO BE EXAMINED BY THE EXPERTS

Closed Houses Cannot Be Open Till Changes are Made

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Seven theaters, including the new National and Puffs, two of the principal playhouses in the national capital, were ordered closed Saturday night by the board of commissioners, the governing body of the District of Columbia.

The order was issued after an inspection of playhouses in the district had been completed by a board of five engineers. The inspection grew out of the recent collapse of the Knickerbocker theater, which cost the lives of ninety-eight persons.

Other theaters closed were the Metropolitan, Columbia, Maryland and Parker, motion picture houses, and the Cosmos, Vanderbilt and the picture. The Metropolitan and the Columbia are two of the larger downtown theaters. The former is owned by the Cendant company, which also owned the Knickerbocker.

Find Structural Weakness

The report of the engineers on which the order was issued was not made public but members said that "in most cases" structural weakness and inadequate fire protection had been disclosed by their investigation.

Some commissioners estimated that it would be several months before some of the theaters would be able to reopen.

In one case, it was added, an entirely new roof would have to be constructed, while in other cases balconies would have to be strengthened. In another case, it was said, the space under a stage had been found filled with loose papers, increasing greatly the fire hazard.

Examine Ten Other Houses

The investigation of the committee of engineers was said to be incomplete at this time. Col. Charles Keller, the engineer commissioner representing the war department on the district governing board, saying that about ten other theaters were being examined.

The action of the district commissioners, it was pointed out, was in line with a recommendation of the board's jury in its findings on the Knickerbocker theater disaster.

MEXICAN FEDERAL TROOPS MOBILIZED ALONG THE BORDER

Situation Quiet But Government is Prepared for Possible Developments

BROWNSVILLE, Texas.—Three thousand Mexican federal troops have been distributed along the lower Texas-Mexican border in the last 48 hours, it was announced Saturday afternoon by Mexican Consul Vasquez.

"While the situation along the border remains quiet, we want to be prepared for all eventualities," the consul said.

Troops Chase Rebels

MEXICO CITY.—By The Associated Press.—Thirty men, including the American border into Mexico at Columbus, New Mexico, according to officers sent by Governor Enriquez of the state of Chihuahua, the men were being pursued by Mexican federal troops.

Rebel forces of Rosillo Hernandez, under chase pursued by federal troops, have been driven from Chihuahua, across the border into the state of Coahuila, says the message received by the department of interior.

He added that Friday night three federal forces left Sinaloa, Guerrero in search of small bands led by Pablo Amayo, Jose Miguel and Manuel Gutierrez.

WESTERN TRAIN ROBBED

ALAMOSA, Colo.—Two masked men robbed the express car of an eastbound Denver & Rio Grand Western train about two miles east of here Saturday night. Shot Express Messenger Gomez when he resisted, and escaped. Gomez is thought to be seriously wounded.

LEADERS WILL BLOCK MOVE TO DELAY PAYMENT

Majority in House Determined that Law Shall be Passed at Present Session of Congress

ATTEMPT TO PASS SALES TAX WILL MEET SHARP OPPOSITION

Consider Other Forms of Sales Tax than a General Levy

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The soldiers' bonus situation, had simmered down perceptibly Saturday following the first reaction from President Harding's suggestion that the adjustment of compensation be financed by a sales tax or that the enactment of the legislation be postponed. There was, however, no apparent slackening in the determination of republican house leaders to pass the measure at this session.

Majority members of the house ways and means committee were called to meet Monday to tackle the whole problem again. They were expected to pass upon the legislative provisions of the measure before going into the question of ways and means of raising funds.

Proponents of a sales tax appeared to be confident the republican committee men would decide on this form of taxation as a means of raising the approximately $800,000,000 needed to cover the cash payments as now provided for in the measure. It was certain, however, that the sales tax would not be voted in without a sharp fight.

Disapprove General Tax

It was said that any sales tax adopted would not be a general one. A manufacturers' tax, similar to the one rejected by the senate during consideration of the tax revision bill, was one suggestion advanced. It was claimed that this tax at a rate of one per cent would raise the amount of money required.

Several other forms of a sales tax are known to be under consideration. It was learned that treasury experts recently had prepared a form of sales tax, which its framers contend can be administered easily and cannot be evaded.

Farmers Fight Plan

Whether a bonus bill with a sales tax attached could be put through the house still seemed to be a mooted question, some leaders declaring that the situation in this respect was one defying analysis at this time. Meanwhile, farm organizations continued their attack on this tax. Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, addressed a letter to each member of congress protesting against it.

Taxes Too High Now

"Taxes are already exceedingly high," the letter said, "and a sales tax would only mean further burden upon the average individual, and when we stop to consider that the average income of each man, woman and child in this country, whose income is below the income tax level, is only $232 a year, the American farm bureau federation believes it would be a rank injustice to raise further revenue for the soldiers' bonus by this method. It would take away from these people any prospect of accumulating a competence, no matter how small, and would blight their hope of bettering their condition."

AMERICAN CARDINALS ASK CHANGE IN RULE GOVERNING CONCLAVE

ROME.—By The Associated Press.—The cardinals of the American continent have formally asked Pope Pius XI to alter the constitution of the conclave lengthening the period that elapses between the death of the pope and the convening of the conclave in order to enable them to attend papal elections in the future. The pope has received the request favorably, and according to reports in Vatican quarters, will extend the period from ten to fifteen days, deeming it unwise to leave the church longer without a head.

Muskegon capital has already been pledged to building the terminal there.

CLUBS AND FARM INTERESTS UNITE FOR "MILK WEEK"

WOULD BOOST THE USE OF "PERFECT FOOD" TO MAKE AND KEEP KIDS HEALTHY

SURVEY SCHOOLS TO FIND OUT HOW MANY DRINK MILK

Essays, Posters, Show Windows, Public Talks to Advertise Dairy Products

THE first La Crosse milk week will be put over by the members of the La Crosse County Community Council, assisted by County Agricultural authorities, during the week commencing February 27. The idea and purpose of the milk week drive is to interest the people of La Crosse county, and especially the school children, in the great value of milk and milk products as food.

Surveys are being made in all of the public and parochial schools of the county to ascertain the number of school children who use milk daily, either at home, or in the schools. Many of the children who have been under observation by their teachers and the social workers of the city have been given milk to drink each day during school hours and in nearly all cases it has been noticeable that their general health and school work has improved.

Much interest has been created in this movement by the discovery by government experts that milk is the best food there is for growing children and adults as well. Milk contains more of the vitamins essential to the diet of man than any similar quantity of another kind of food. It is explained.

Poster and Essay Contest
A prize essay and poster contest will be held before the milk week begins. In this contest all children in schools will have a chance to participate. They will be divided into several different groups, such as those of high school grade, sixth to eighth grades and the lower grades. Prizes will be awarded to all schools, with one grand sweepstakes prize for the best of the whole lot. The subjects of the essays will be left largely to those who are writing them, but all will deal with the food value of milk products, and what personal benefit can be derived from using them. The posters will be used in advertising the milk week campaign in the store show windows.

The authors of the best essays will be chosen for "four minute" men to make short talks to the school children during the week that the campaign is on. In addition to these speakers, others—doctors and prominent men of La Crosse—will be called upon to talk in the various schools of the county. It is the wish of the committee in charge to have as many persons as are able to do so to donate the use of their cars for the purpose of taking these speakers from school to school.

Work for Pure Milk
Not only is the committee of the County Council interested in advertising milk as a valuable food, but they are also going to delve into the subject of insuring that the milk used by the people of La Crosse is all that it is supposed to be and that it comes from herds inspected and passed under the provisions of the dairy laws.

According to a bulletin issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Wisconsin milk is a perfect food. Fed by itself it will efficiently support growth. There are but few single articles of food that will do this. Eggs will do it, but cornmeal or oatmeal, for instance, will not.

All Diet Necessities
Five things are necessary factors in a diet in order to give adequate nourishment. These are a sufficient amount of energy, or fuel food, an adequate supply of good proteins, sufficient suitable mineral matter and two chemical substances of unknown character belonging to a class of materials now called vitamins. Milk is one of the few foods which contain these essential constituents in suitable proportions. In contrast a food like cornmeal may contain all of the normal factors of nutrition, but some are either too low in quantity or too poor in character to meet the needs of a growing child. Milk contains them in proportions sufficient for rapid growth, and that is why it is a superior food; in fact, milk is used today as the yard stick of nutritive efficiency. In experimental work its mineral content is generally taken as a standard of excellence. Experts say that knowledge of food values and the proper use of food would save most of the 350,000 children who die annually, sacrificed by the ignorance and neglect of their parents, and change most of the six million undernourished and suffering children into strong bodied boys and girls capable of developing strong minds and becoming useful in the nation of tomorrow. It is the sacred right of children to be as healthy as knowledge can make them.

Milk a Cheap Food
Foods differ widely in their actual food value. While some appear to be high in price, others low, it must be remembered that the price at which a given food is selling is in no wise indicative of its value as a food. Milk is much cheaper than beef, steak, eggs or canned vegetables, yet their food value is much less. Milk is not only the most economical food there is, but it is the most nourishing and healthful of all foods.

Because milk is a liquid, many people believe that it is not a real food. They fail to realize that milk is full of nourishment, the food being in solution, and all of it being readily digested. There is no waste in milk, while in most foods there is much material which cannot be digested and is therefore wasted.

Not only is the milk especially good as a food, but the products of milk are recognized also as very beneficial.

These are butter, ice cream and cheese.

Butter is a concentrated food. Many people commit the error of thinking of butter merely as a relish, but it is a vital food with no waste. There is no substitute for butter. It is more than fat, since it promotes growth and health in addition to supplying heat and energy to the body.

Ice Cream Real Food
Ice cream is a food which the public has not yet learned to appreciate. It has been considered a luxury and not a real food, but this also is error, since ice cream is nourishing and very high in food value. During the war it was declared by the government to be an essential and highly nourishing food. During the milk week here, the local ice cream factories will be open to inspection by the general public.

Of all of the muscle building foods, cheese is the most nourishing and economical. It is often classed with meat and beans because it contains similar ingredients. It is, however, rich in butterfat, containing that vital substance so essential to growth and health.

All leading food authorities agree that to increase the amount of milk used would be to increase the general health of the nation. Dr. McCollum of Johns Hopkins University, one of the foremost food experts in the country says: "The people who have achieved, who have become large, strong, vigorous people, who have placed their infant mortality, who have the best grades in the world, who have an appreciation of art, literature and music, and who are progressive in science, and in every activity of the human intellect, are the people who have used milk and its products liberally."

Leads in Value!

Buy your car on the basis of intrinsic value.

That begins back in the mills in the selection of the raw materials. It continues right on up the line, demanding the highest grade of workmanship in every operation.

But mark this: There can be no real intrinsic value where manufacturing incompetence exists, because you foot the bill. Where you buy under that condition you pay for inadequate production facilities.

Studebaker heads the industry in ability and resources to build intrinsic value into motor cars—economically—and to sell at the lowest prices possible, consistent with the cost of manufacture.

Take, for instance, the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX. Costs less to buy than the average Four, yet in tire and fuel economy, flexibility and quality throughout, and in dependable performance in owners' use, it surpasses anything at anywhere near its price.

Careful buying by the public and careful manufacture by Studebaker plus the definite policy of always giving the greatest value for the price, have made the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX the best motor car in the thousand-dollar class.

Studebaker builds on the principle that there is no substitute for quality. That was settled seventy years ago when the business was founded.

Studebaker prices are always the lowest at which it is possible to obtain inherent value and today's price makes the value of the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX stand out more strikingly than ever.

Giving the public the greatest intrinsic value for the price has made Studebaker the world's largest builder of six-cylinder cars.

I WILL BE GLAD
I will be glad and rejoice in Thy mercy; for Thou hast considered my affliction: Thou hast known my soul in adversity.—Psalms 31:7.

Robert Campbell

"BOB" CAMPBELL is dead.

The message, flashed over the city Saturday, was received with expressions of regret in many homes in La Crosse. It may truthfully be said that the city mourns the passing of this man.

With a twinkle in his eye and a happy greeting or kind word for every man, woman or child he knew—and there were legions of them—"Bob" Campbell was one of the best little sunshine dispensers La Crosse has ever known. These splendid attributes of character helped, in a large measure, to make him also the best water tapper the municipality has ever had. No one ever heard him grumble over turning out in the middle of the night or in below zero weather, or in a pouring rain, to direct the onerous job of repairing a broken water main. He was faithful in the performance of his duties to a degree which served as an example and inspiration to every man in his department. Combining these qualities with efficiency and expert knowledge made him so invaluable in the water department that, even after stricken and confined to his home, the city found it advisable and profitable to retain him on the payroll in an advisory capacity.

"Bob" Campbell's home life was ideal. He showered upon the members of his family an affection and devotion which was inspiring, and the latchstring was always hanging out at 127 South Eleventh street. Robert Campbell was not abundantly supplied with this world's goods, but he was a wealthy man—wealthy in those things which make life worth while.

Our Regulator

WHEN you went to school, you learned that water always seeks its own level. That's why mother's copper wash boiler leaks through the hole in the bottom. The water starts its journey back to the sea, soon as it gets a chance. Sun evaporates ocean water. Moisture drifts inland, condenses and falls as rain. You see this rain when you stand beside a river. It is flowing back to the sea, seeking its own level. There you have a universal principle that governs all men and all conditions created by their stupidity or intelligence.

The average farm-hand's pay has dropped to $43.32 a month without board and $30.11 a month with board. Uncle Sam's department of agriculture announces this. It points out that farm wage rates during 1921 dropped an average of thirty-seven per cent. That decline just about matched the drop in wholesale prices of food. Observe the universal law at work—wages and prices seeking a common level.

Herbert Hoover furnishes tables, showing prices out of line. Some prices are twice as high as in 1913. Others have deflated to the pre-war level or below. Gradually you'll see all prices meet at a common level. No one knows what that level will be. Prices extremely low now may rise to strike a medium with prices now extremely high. Then, when equilibrium or balance is established, a business boom will start.

Ability is among the things that seek their own level, for the law of compensation is a natural force, as inexorable as the law of gravity. That's why "you can't keep a good man down." That's why the incompetent is shouldered aside by a better man. We have to pay for everything in this world. And, in the long run, we get no more out of life than we give.

Light for Firemen

FIRE FIGHTING at night is a tricky business, as must have been forcibly impressed upon the hundreds of folks who watched the expeditious way in which the fire department suppressed the fire at the Longfellow school Friday night. Not a few who were watching saw in the experience the lesson that a flood-lighting apparatus is a highly useful and necessary adjunct to the modern equipment of the department. The spotlights which the new motor fire-wagons carry were useful, but their use, confined as it was to a narrow circle of illumination which made the surrounding darkness seem more intense, only emphasized their limitations. At least one of the new motor trucks should be equipped with a powerful flood-lighting apparatus, which would greatly assist the firemen in the dangerous job of fighting a night fire. Their job is hard and perilous enough without the added hazards incident to feeling their way about a burning building.

CHAMPION forgetter of the world appears to be Paul Madula, who works on the army piers in Hoboken, N. Y. Madula went into a restaurant late the other night, gave a big order and fell asleep. Presently the waiter woke him up. Madula ate the meal, drowsed off. He awoke, ordered another big meal, ate it, slept again. This happened a third time. Then, waking, Madula began raging about slow service and demanded why he hadn't been served. In court, he told the judge he couldn't remember eating the three meals.

Your Memory

Madula will have the sympathy of people who suffer from occasional lapses of memory—who forget acquired knowledge or actual occurrences. "The name's slipped me. I'll come to me in a minute." All of us have memory lapses at times. Usually they're due to fatigue, underdevelopment of certain brain cells, or the attempt to remember more than the brain can store. The most pronounced forms are aphasia and amnesia. Aphasia is the complete loss of understanding of language. The victim forgets how to talk and write. He cannot understand writing or speech. Amnesia is a defect of memory, especially for certain words. In acute form, one's whole past is forgotten.

What do you find most difficult to remember? Names, dates, faces or such things as errands and letter-mailing for friend wife? To overcome them, keep in mind that memory is not a single, consolidated brain function. It has many departments—memory of taste, sight, smell, sounds, events, identification. These departments may function smoothly with one exception. For instance, a person of remarkable memory may be unable to recall what a certain thing tastes like. Robert Robinson, California evangelist, committed half the Bible to memory. He could repeat 386,846 words of Scriptural text. That department of his brain was overdeveloped. Other departments were normal.

Psycho-analysis says we forget what our subconscious minds don't want our conscious selves to recall. Proof of this is that it's easy to remember things that are interesting. Concentrate interest on the things most easily forgotten. Memory will strengthen, like an exercised muscle. Quite a few married men carry their religion in their wife's name. A girl with a pretty knee can grin and bare it. Square people are never left flat.

CHURCH NEWS

Furnished by the Church News Association

American Catholics have received approval from the Congregation of the Propaganda at Rome to take up and assume leadership of Catholic foreign missionary work of the world. One of the last acts of the late pope, and the first of the new one, was the placing of this leadership in American hands. Heretofore the work has been done by France, and of late years with growing help from American Catholics, but still through the French society. Hereafter America is herself to lead.

The American Friends Service committee makes offers to farmers and holders of wheat and corn to pay freight charges on 1,000,000 barrels of flour or meal from any point in the interior to an Atlantic port, when such grain is given for distribution to starving children by the Quaker Russian Relief Mission. Appeal is made for wheat, but where it cannot be given, Friends say they will accept corn. These Quaker philanthropists reach the seaboard, and to do so at their own cost. Grain elevator men have been asked to cooperate. The government will provide sea transportation from an Atlantic port to the nearest Russian one. Only flour will be sent, but it is stated that much of it will be the whole wheat, that none of the gifts of American farmers be wasted.

Persons in charge of the plans state that numbers of Christian people in America who prefer Saturday to Sunday as the Sabbath day are rapidly increasing. Not only so, but people holding to these convictions outrank everybody else in sums of money they give each year to make others see doctrines as they do. A World Council of people who keep Saturday as the Sabbath day, instead of Sunday, is to be held in San Francisco, next May. These people call themselves Seventh Adventists, and in the United States they number 100,000. They are resident in almost every state, and the entire country is covered by their national organization in what are known as departments. On the average, Adventists gave last year $67.17, as compared with other religious people, most of whom give less than $1 a year each.

The Salvation Army disclaims all pessimism, but admits to finding unemployment conditions worse than last winter, and at the moment to be growing worse steadily. Moreover, the Army states that it is well nigh bankrupt, because of the drain upon it to assist others. It is to make efforts to secure gifts of $500,000 by May 15 and it states that all of this sum, larger than it has ever needed before, will be required unless conditions improve, and that at once. Throughout the country the Army maintains eighty-two industrial shops, the main idea in which is to help men to help themselves.

R. W. Freeman, who is general chairman of the Northern Baptist Laymen's Council, and Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomerie, the first woman ever to be president of the Northern Baptist convention, have been in New York in conference with Baptist leaders, and are now starting out to get Baptist men and women to give $15,000,000 before April 30. The purpose is to keep Baptist benevolences from falling into debt, and enable them to make a reasonable advance this year. Dr. John Y. Aitchison and Dr. Hugh A. Heath, the general and convention directors respectively of Baptist benevolent promotion, are leaving for New England and the Middle West tours, that they may meet state and district Baptist leaders. Some thirty-five states form the field of the Baptist effort.

ERSKINE DALE PIONEER

by JOHN FOX Jr

CHARLES SCHUBERT

"The Indian girl, Harry. Morning slipped under the tent and out, no trace. The white woman got my gun and fired—your know nothing can catch Harry." The voice was intense, they were painfully flushed. "And you want to know what I am going to do now?" Erskine went on, "I am going with Captain George Rogers Clark—with what command are you, Mr. Gray?" "That's a secret," he smiled coolly. "I'll let you know later," and Barbara, with an inward sigh of relief, rose quickly. "The white woman?" questioned Harry. "Why doesn't she leave the Indians?" "Early. Morning is a half-breed—is her daughter," said Erskine simply. "Oh!" and Harry questioned no further. "Early. Morning was the best looking Indian girl I ever saw," said Erskine, "and the bravest." For the first time they glanced at Barbara. "She saved my life," Erskine went on gravely, "and mine is hers when ever she needs it." Barbara excused herself with a courtesy. Hugh went to the stables. Harry disappeared for a moment, and the two were left alone. With smoldering fire Erskine turned to Gray. "It seems you have been amusing yourself with my kinship at my expense," Gray drew himself up in haughty silence. Erskine went on: "I have known some bars who were no cowards." "You remember a promise I made you once?" "Indeed," corrected Erskine, "Gray's eyes flashed upward to the crossed rapiers on the wall. "Precisely," answered Erskine, "and why?" Barbara, peering, heard their last words, and she came forward pale and with pleading eyes. "Cousin Erskine, I want to apologize to you for my little faith. Mr. Gray, your horse will be at the door at once. I wish you a safe journey to your command." Erskine was on the porch when they came out to mount his horse. "You will want seconds?" asked Gray. "They might try to stop us—no!" "I shall ride slowly," Gray said, and Erskine bowed. "I shall not." Within half an hour Barbara passing through the hall, saw that the rapiers were gone from the wall and she stopped, with the color fled from her face and her hand on her heart. In a few moments she had found Harry and Hugh. Even while their horses were being saddled her father rode up. "This murder," cried Harry, "and Gray knows it. Erskine knows nothing about a rapier." Without a word, Colonel Dale wheeled his dined horse and soon Harry and Hugh dashed after him. Barbara walked back to the house, wringing her hands, but on the porch she sat quietly in the agony of waiting that was the role of women in those days. Meanwhile, Harry was skimming along the river road. They had kept his word. He was waiting between two plantations. They hitched their horses, and Erskine followed into a pleasant glade—a grassy glade through which tumbled a little stream. Erskine dropped the rapiers on the sword. "Take your choice," he said. "There is none," said Gray, picking up the one nearer to him. "When you are ready," Erskine said. "Ready!" answered Gray and lunged. Erskine merely whipped at his blade and sprang backward. He was as quick as an eyelash and like a flash, he parried, and yet Gray almost laughed. "All Erskine did was to whip the thrusting blade aside and leap out of danger like a flash of light. It was like an inept boxer falling according to rules unknown—and Gray's face flamed and actually turned anxious. Then, Erskine's blade caught in Gray's guard by accident, and the powerful wrist behind it, seeking nearly to wrench the weapon loose, saw Gray's rapier from his grasp and landed it ten feet away. With his sword's point on the earth, he waited courteously for Gray to recover his weapon. As Gray rushed for his sword, Erskine heard the beat of horses' hoofs. He watched it from the ground and turned and as he reached for Erskine, Colonel Dale swung from his horse. The sword-blades clashed—and Colonel Dale and Erskine lay the west and was between them. "After dark you, sir?" cried Gray. "That's a moment," repeated the colonel calmly. "Mr. Gray, do you think it quite fair that you with your skill should fight a man who knows no 'I am going with Captain George Rogers Clark—with what command are you, Mr. Gray?' " "There was no other way," Gray said solemnly. "Your country is at war. She needs every man for her defense. Do you not think both of your lives belong to your country?" "I don't like you, your nephew grossly insulted me, and your daughter showed me the door. I merely repeated what I had been told and I believed it true. Now that I hear it is no truth, I am willing to express my regrets and apologies." "That is better," said Colonel Dale heartily, and he turned to Erskine, but Erskine was crying, hotly: "And I express neither!" As they rode back Colonel Dale spoke of the war. It was about to move into Virginia, he said, and when it did—both Harry and Hugh interrupted him with a glad shout: "We can go!" Colonel Dale nodded sadly. Suddenly all pulled their horses in simultaneously and raised their eyes, for all heard the coming of a horse in a dead run. Around a thickened curve of the road came Barbara, with her face white and her hair streaming behind her. She pulled her pony to a few feet in front of them, with burning eyes of Erskine—have you killed him?—have you killed him?—if you have." She stopped, hopeless, and all were amazed that now could answer. Erskine shook his head. There was a flash of relief in the girl's white face, his necklessness gave way to sudden shame, and without a word, she wheeled and was away again—Harry flying after her. No one spoke. Colonel Dale looked askance and Erskine's heart again turned sick.

As the dusk gathered that evening, Erskine, looking gloomily through his window, saw Barbara flutter like a white moth past the box hedge and down the path. A moment later he saw the tall form of Colonel Dale follow her. On the thick turf the colonel's foot, too, was noiseless, and when Barbara stopped at the sundial he too paused. "Little girl," he called, and no lover's voice could have been more gentle. "Come here!" She turned and saw him, the low moon lighting all the tenderness in his fine old face, and she flew to him. In vain silence he stroked her hair, until she gave a little exclamation. "What's the matter, little daughter?" "I—I—didn't want anybody harmed." "I know. It's too bad, but none of us seem quite to trust Mr. Gray." "That's it," she sobbed. "I don't like him, and yet—" "I know. My little girl must be wise and brave. Mother is a weak woman, and she must not be much unhappy too. Can't my little girl come back to the house now? She must be restless and this is Erskine's last night." She looked up, brushing away her tears. "His last night?" Ah, wise old colonel! She took her father's arm, and when they reached the steps Erskine saw her smiling. And smiling, almost gay, she was at supper, sitting with exquisite dignity in her mother's place. Harry and Hugh looked amazed, and her father, who knew the bit of tempered steel she was, smiled his encouragement proudly. Of Erskine, who sat at her right she asked many questions about the coming campaign. After supper the little lady excused herself with a smiling courtesy to go to her mother. Erskine found himself in the moonlight on the big porch with Colonel Dale alone. "Erskine," he said, "you make it very difficult for me to keep your secret. It was a boyish impulse of yours which made you give this gesture to Barbara." "Never," interrupted the boy, "I have no use—loss than ever now." "Barbara would not accept your sacrifice nor would any of us, and it is only fair that I should warn you that some day, if you should change your mind, and I were no longer living, you might be too late." "Please don't Uncle Harry. It is done—done. Of course, it wasn't fair for me to consider Barbara alone, but she will be fair and you understand. I wish you would regard the whole matter as though I didn't exist." (Continued tomorrow)

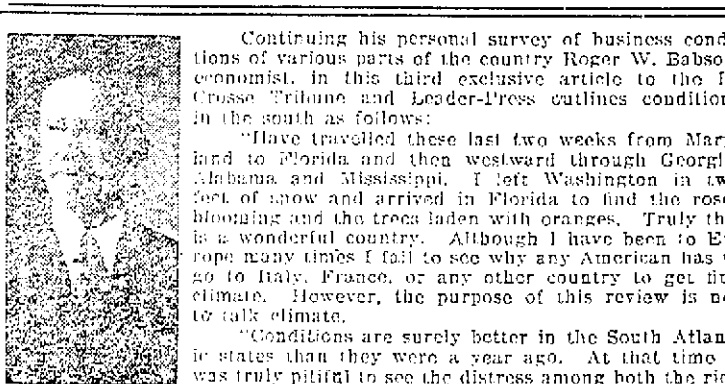

GENOA A PRELIMINARY

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS

WASHINGTON.—In all the diplomatic difficulties, we shall not have any clear and final step toward readjustment until France and Great Britain settle their differences are not accommodated before the Genoa conference then they may easily prevent results there as they interfered with achievements here. Political First There are two questions in the world which are economic but are political before they are economic, namely reparations and allied debts. You cannot begin a real economic readjustment until you have met both of these questions and met them on the political side. Moreover, they are inextricably entangled. The United States congress has just

SOUTH BETTER IN 1922 SAYS BABSON

Famous Statistician Sees Great Possibilities in Cotton Country.

Continuing his personal survey of business conditions of various parts of the country Roger W. Babson, economist, in this third exclusive article to the La Crosse Tribune and Leader-Press outlines conditions in the south as follows: "Have travelled these last two weeks from Maryland to Florida and then westward through Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. I left Washington in two feet of snow and arrived in Florida to find the roses blooming and the trees laden with oranges. Truly this is a wonderful country. Although I have been to Europe many times I fail to see why any American has to go to Italy, France, or any other country to get nice climate. However, the purpose of this review is not to talk climate. "Conditions are surely better in the South Atlantic states than they were a year ago. At that time it was truly pitiful to see the distress among both the rich and the poor. Like an epidemic the business depression when it struck the south, showed no favoritism. Rich and poor, young and old were all hit together. Virginia, North Carolina, and northern Georgia show more improvement than does the rest of the south. The best cities for sales are Richmond, Va., Greenville and Charlotte, North Carolina; Charleston and Columbia, South Carolina; Columbus, Augusta and Atlanta, Georgia. Each one of them will show much better business in 1922 than 1921. "Florida is not included in the above list—with the exception of the northern part—there has been no real depression in Florida. If Florida were in the western part of the country I should say it will surely be hit by the depression wave some time within the next two years. But considering the fact that the present depression started in the east and that the south has already received its blow, the southern part of Florida may escape this time without being hit. This, however, doesn't mean that Florida will always be immune from business depression. Some day there will be a real estate collapse in Florida just as there has always been in every state after a period of great prosperity. Central and southern Florida today, however, is one of the most prosperous sections of the country. It is truly a wonderful state with superb climate, a very strategic location, while its drained lands are wonderfully fertile. Florida would be the Empire State of the Union, capable of feeding the entire country if its soil were tilled efficiently. Why its people fail to grasp their great opportunity is beyond my comprehension. Miami some day will be a big city. Tampa has great commercial possibilities and some large places will also develop in the center of the state. The center of Florida with its high altitude, rolling country and vast quantity of lakes, lies almost unknown to the average American.

"When a statistician visits the south he comes to the conclusion that cotton is a weed and not a crop. Cotton grows naturally and easily in the south as a weed would grow in the north. If the southern planter attended to his work as does the northern farmer, the south would be today the richest part of the country. The boll weevil which is fast making the raising of cotton unprofitable may turn out to be the south's best friend by forcing the southern planter to break up the land into small holdings and diversify the crop. "The south has many advantages over the central west. It possesses great natural resources, such as coal and iron, unlimited water power, and splendid means of communication. In addition the products will be in greater demand as the country becomes more prosperous. The per capita consumption of wheat, the main product of the northern agricultural states, does not increase much as the people become more prosperous. The demand for cotton, sugar, beef and legumes, increases very much with the prosperity of the country. As the people become better off they eat more vegetables and less corn bread and bacon. Hence, the great opportunity in the south lies in diversified farming, breaking up the large tracts into small farms, the introduction of good stock, and the planting of more legumes. Statistics show that with the most agricultural opportunities in the country the south today does not even feed itself.

"I am especially impressed with the religious foundation upon which the south stands. This shows that there is a good moral foundation upon which to build.

"It is debatable as to whether at present the negro is an asset or a liability. Some good European immigration to teach him how to work efficiently and speed him up would help. "Beside stimulating the labor the soil must also be stimulated by the much more liberal use of fertilizer. Just now the fertilizer industry of the south is very much depressed. Fertilizer manufacturers need not worry, the fertilizer business will come back in good shape. "If space permitted I should like to write of the wonderful foreign trade opportunities possessed by New Orleans, Mobile, Pensacola, Jacksonville and other southern seaports. Trade with Mexico and South America is quiet now but some day this is to revive. At that time the south will greatly benefit.

"Personally I am distinctly bullish on the south. The young man of the north I should advise to go south, rather than west. Certainly our South Atlantic states offer agriculturally, industrially, and commercially better opportunities to the young man of today than does South America and I know South America.

"The gradual steady rise in the stock market is reflecting an improved morale in general business circles. The index number of the Babson Composite has risen two points during the last week and business now stands at 16% below normal. Considering the extent of the readjustment and the progress being made things are going in a very orderly fashion. (All publication and Radio Rights strictly reserved.) NEXT WEEK CENTRAL WESTERN STATES.

passed a law which will regulate the terms of the payment of the allied debts, but there is not a man familiar either with finance or international conditions who does not concede that the pressure passed by congress postpones economic readjustment in the outside world to the very injury of the United States. We have, in terms, served notice upon France, Italy, Belgium and Britain that they must pay us what they owe and begin paying at once, but only Britain can really begin. The others will politely remind us that their ability to pay depends upon the promptitude of Germany in paying them.

When England begins to pay, then the immediate effect will be the fall in exchange, the further reduction in our foreign trade and in addition a rapid increase in our gold imports, which have already produced alarm in all financial quarters. The net effect of British payment will be that Britain will buy less here, sell more, and cover the difference by gold exports. This while we shall get interest payment on the debt we shall lose in volume of exports to the British empire. This losing means an extension not a limitation in unemployment here.

As to the continental countries, the situation will be this: France cannot pay because Germany will not and perhaps cannot pay. But the French are maintaining a large army to force German payment. In insisting now upon French payment we are supplying the French not alone with strong reason for maintaining their army at present strength but additional reason for using it against Germany, if Germany continues to default.

Would Raise Hob But if the French use their army against Germany the immediate result will be new disorganization in Germany and in central Europe generally with fresh disturbance of trade conditions, rates of exchange and business generally. And this in turn means that central Europe can buy less of us. Again, the net result of the congressional excursion into international affairs will be a decrease in American exports with a corresponding reaction upon American conditions. Europe owes us roughly speaking, principal and interest $11,000,000,000, which will amount to $12,000,000,000 before payments begin. France

MISSIONARY VISITS LA CROSSE AFTER 20 YEARS IN BULGARIA

Rev. Leroy F. Ostrander and Wife are Guests of Relatives in this City

COUPLE REMAINED IN SAMOKOV DURING WAR

Tell of Interesting War Experiences in Foreign Land

La Crosse is entertaining a missionary who has spent twenty years in doing good work among the people of Bulgaria. He is the Rev.
Leroy F. Ostrander of Samokov, Bulgaria, who is visiting at the home
of John Holley, 217 So. 15th St.

La Crosse Relatives
Rev. Mr. Ostrander is a cousin of Mr. Holley by marriage. His wife was formerly Miss Mary Horner of this city. Rev. Ostrander and wife who are in this country on a year's furlough, expect to remain in La Crosse for two or three weeks.

Rev. Ostrander is the principal of a boy school in Samokov, which is a Bulgarian city thirty-five miles south east of Sofia, the capital. He visited in this country in 1914-15,
but decided to return to his work at the end of the first year of the great war.

He tells a very interesting story of the trying years of his war experiences in Bulgaria.

Return During War

After deciding to return to Bulgaria, passage was finally secured on a little Greek ship, belonging to one of the few remaining neutral lines then crossing the Atlantic. We took the Mediterranean route, and in three weeks landed, after meeting
many interesting adventures and experiences along the way. We reached Sofia on the evening of September 22nd, and on the next day a half after our arrival in the Bulgarian capital, the ministerial council decided on a general mobilization of the army, and three weeks later Bulgaria declared war on Serbia thus entering the world conflict on the side of the central European powers.

Sympathies With Allies

"Why did the people of Bulgaria take this step? At the beginning of the war the sympathy of the nation and the leaning of the government were strongly in favor of the Allies. Envoys were sent to the capitals of the Entente powers to arrange terms on which Bulgaria could side with them, the principal item of which was the ceding of Macedonia to Bulgaria. Even when these attempts failed and the more attractive inducements of Germany were gaining ground, the leaders of all the opposition parties called collectively on King Ferdinand and protested most strongly against going with the Central Powers. But on the other hand, there was the dazzling initial success of the Central Powers, and the threatening and quite probable danger that the German steamroller might come down over Bulgaria as it had over Belgium and as it subsequently crushed Rou-mania. It was confidently believed that the war would end in six months in Germany's favor and so, having been rebuffed by the Allies, the king and government sided with the other European nations. They did what they declared Bulgaria's interests demanded, and decided for the Central Powers. It was a fatal step which never had the endorsement or the enthusiastic support of the nation as a whole.

No Hardships Suffered

"During the three years of Bulgaria's participation in the war we were in Samokov. We suffered no hardships, except that for two years we had no papers or periodicals from home, nor the stroke of a pen from relatives or friends in America.

There were, of course, difficulties and privations. Food and other supplies, when obtainable at all,
were limited in variety and quantity and exorbitantly high. Shoes went to $55, a gallon of kerosene to $10, a spool of thread to $12. It was necessary to be very circumspect in our conversation and speech in order to avoid useless controversy and quarrels. We could not leave town without written police and military permission. We were spied upon and sometimes maliciously accused before the authorities, who, however,
proved themselves remarkably tolerant, fair and even generous. And so we passed through this trying period without serious mishap, illness, or molestation, and with practically no interruption of our regular work in school and church.

Recalls Armistice Day

"Armistice day for us was September 29, 1918, when Bulgaria signed an agreement with the allies on the Salonic front. Toward the end of the third year of Bulgaria's fighting there was great discontent. The soldiers were anxious to get back to their homes and farms. There was a scarcity of food and clothing, both at home and at the front. There was dissatisfaction with Germany's domineering and selfish control of the situation. Then came the publication and discussion of President Wilson's fourteen points.
The soldiers at the front said: 'We are fighting for nothing more than this promise. What is the use of further bloodshed?' and three very important regiments late in September refused to fight any longer and began to retreat.

"Meanwhile the Radosloff ministers had been overthrown and a coalition one placed in power, which,
as soon as the retreat began, at once took steps, with the help of American diplomats at Sofia, to conclude an armistice. Thus the first break was made which in less than two months time led to the final collapse of the Central Powers and the armistice of November 11th.

Wilson Idolized

"At this time President Wilson was almost idolized because of his policy of international justice and high-mindedness. He was looked upon as a man raised up specially by God to insure a world peace. Then came the Peace Conference, and as soon after session of the fourteen points was ignored, and when finally the League of Nations was repudiated
by America, a feeling of disappointment and indignation at broken word and outraged justice gradually filled the minds and hearts of the people. The situation was utterly incomprehensible.

Government Resigned

"Bulgaria's present government acknowledges the terrible mistake of her former leaders, and resolutely takes the consequences. It is felt that the treaty is unjustly severe in taking away, in absolute disregard for the principle of self-determination, large sections of her territory and making thousands of Bulgarians from these sections forlorn and destute refugees. Yet she is giving herself to the fulfillment of the treaty obligations. And in spite of temporary disappointment, she is grateful to America. She appreciates what American schools and philanthropic work in the Near East have done for her. She is thankful for American sympathy with her just national aspirations and for efforts to make these known to the world;
she honors America for the attempt made to secure her justice in the decision of certain points of the treaty. She desires to have more intimate relations and warm friendship with America, with whom she has never had any quarrel and against whom she gratefully refused to declare war in spite of German threats and pressures. She looks with favor upon American educational and religious work within her borders, has given a splendid tract of land near Sofia for American schools, and has granted the same schools a free hand to arrange a curriculum of instruction and training, a situation which offers a wonderful opportunity to those who can take advantage of it.

Communist Menace

"When asked if the Bolshevik movement, which spread over nearly the whole of Europe after the war,
had gained foothold in Bulgaria, Rev.
Ostrander stated that the communist doctrine has many followers in the cities, but that the country folk are not greatly interested in it. Most of the peasantry in Bulgaria own their own property, and therefore have no reason for wishing communism.

"Recent government legislation in Bulgaria has given a decided impetus to the communist agitation. This is the law which prevents any individual from owning more than 75 acres of land. Another recently passed law requires labor from each male citizen, instead of military service.
Each man must put in a certain number of days each year, usually from ten days to two weeks, at some sort of state work.

"Personally we think it is nice for a man to be always cheerful, but it gets on our nerves for a dentist to sing at his work.—Dallas News.

WISCONSIN DRAINAGE SESSION SCHEDULED FOR COMING WEEK

Officials Interested in Reclamation of Wet Lands to Meet in Madison

MADISON, Wis.—Farmers, commissioners and others interested in the reclamation of Wisconsin's millions of acres of wet lands will attend
the eighth annual meeting of the State Drainage association to be held here February 21-23.

The meetings will immediately precede those of the State Engineering society, scheduled for February 21 and 22. W. B. Hall, of Oconto county, is president of the state drainage association and O. R. Zeasman of Dane county is secretary and treasurer.

The organization aims at the development of better drainage practices throughout the state. There are about 500 members on its register.

An important matter to be considered at the forthcoming conference will be the appointment of a commissioner for the drainage ditches in each district. The drainage commissioners will be urged to employ men to patrol the district ditches regularly during the open season.

The features of the program, as just announced are embodied in talks on the first year for the settlers on a drained marsh farm by J. A. Flaverburg, a farmer and commissioner in

GOVERNOR PARDONS MAN HE DEFENDED AT TRIAL IN 1907

DENVER, Col.—Acting Governor
Earl Cooley Friday pardoned Lafayette Jones, convicted in 1907 on charges of horse stealing in Aguilar, Col., and sentenced to five to ten years in the penitentiary, because the acting governor said Jones had "not been properly defended." As a young attorney Cooley himself defended the convicted man.

After serving two years Jones ex-
caped but was recaptured again during the world war.

An Imitation Cobra

The horn-nosed snake found in some parts of this country is an expert at feigning death. It is perfectly harmless but many people have thought it to be most dangerous, because when alarmed it raises its head and expands the skin folds on its neck—in imitation of a cobra. It, however, no notice is taken of this performance

it pretends to be dead, writhing its body about as if in convulsions. Lastly, it rolls over on its back, and remains perfectly motionless until the intruder has gone.

You, too, can have "A skin you love to touch"

A BEAUTIFUL skin, soft, smooth, faultlessly clear—any girl can have this charm.

For your skin is constantly changing—each day old skin dies and new takes its place. Give this new skin the right treatment, and see how soft and lovely you can keep it.

If your skin is very sensitive and easily irritated, use each night this special treatment:

DIP a soft washcloth in warm water and hold it to your face.

Now make a warm water lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and dip your cloth up and down until the cloth is "fluffy" with the soft, white lather.

Rub this lathered cloth gently over your skin until the pores are thoroughly cleansed.

Rinse first with warm, then with clear, cool water and dry carefully.

THE very first time you use this treatment it will leave your skin with a slightly drawn, tight feeling. Do not regard this as a disadvantage—it is an indication that the treatment is doing you good, for it means that your skin is responding in the right way to this method of cleansing. After a few treatments the drawn feeling will disappear and your skin will gain a new, healthful sense of softness and smoothness.

Get a cake of Woodbury's today, at any drug store or toilet goods counter, and begin this treatment tonight. A 25-cent cake of Woodbury's will last for a month or six weeks. The Andrew Jergens Co., Cincinnati, New York, and Perth, Ontario.

CHANGES ARE FOR LONG DEBATE ON CONFERENCE PACTS

Controversies Developing Which are Expected to Keep Treaties in Committee

LONGEST DELAY-EXPECTED COME ON FOUR-POWER TREATY

Long Discussion Will Not Endanger Ratification is Belief

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(By The Associated Press.)—Despite the pressure of both republican and democratic senators for prompt action, controversies are developing within the foreign relations committee which may lead to a long committee discussion of the arms conference treaties before any of them is brought to the senate floor for ratification.

Some members of the committee predict that the effort to secure a detailed explanation of the negotiations leading up to the four power treaty would in itself become an element of considerable delay. Afterward, at least four proposed reservations to this treaty, which is first on the list, seem likely to come before the committee before it goes on to the other seven conference agreements that await senate approval.

Approval is Certain
The party leaders on both sides of the chamber are satisfied that the disagreements and delays encountered will in no way endanger ratification of any of the treaties, but they are watching with manifest interest the attempt now in progress to consolidate into a fighting machine all the senate elements dissatisfied with the results of the Washington negotiations. Thus far there is no evidence that any closely-knit anti-treaty "bloc" has been attained.

The first test of strength in the committee may come during the coming week over a proposal to further pursue the quest for detailed information regarding the four-power treaty negotiations. President Harding is expected to inform the senate Monday, in response to its resolution of inquiry, that no minutes of the negotiations were kept. But it was indicated Saturday night that such a reply might not be acceptable to some committee members and that an effort might be made to summon Secretary Hughes, the American delegation head, home from Bermuda, where he has gone for a rest.

Both senators Lodge and Underwood, who were members of the delegation, have told their colleagues that virtually all the four-power negotiations were carried on in the "informal" meetings of the "big four" delegation leaders, and those who want the information argue that the one man who can give it should be brought before the committee.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democratic member of the committee, and author of the resolution of inquiry, plans to leave Monday for a western trip which probably will keep him away until the end of the week. In his absence, an effort to secure additional data is expected by committee members to be taken up by several republican senators, including Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California and Brandegee of Connecticut.

Watch Irreconcilables
In addition to these three republicans, Senators Moses of New Hampshire and McCormack of Illinois, also are republican survivors of the old "irreconcilable" faction of the Versailles treaty fight, and the five together make up an element of the republican committee membership which the leaders are watching with particular interest. All five have expressed some doubts about provisions of the four-power treaty, and it is realized that should they effect a combination strong enough to dictate committee action.

The exact purpose of the democratic, however, still is a matter of conjecture. Senator Underwood, as democratic leader, is confident that five democratic votes will be recorded against the treaty, and even Senator Hitchcock has indicated that he would vote for it after supporting reservations.

MONTICELLO WINS BASKETBALL TITLE AT BELOIT COLLEGE

BELOIT, Wis.—Monticello, Wis., won the state high school basketball championship Saturday in a tournament held under the auspices of Beloit college.

"RUNNING THE GAUNTLET"

The custom of punishing a culprit by forcing him to "run the gauntlet" practiced in the Seventeenth century, is said to have originated during the "Thirty Years' war" (1618-48) and to have been adopted by European armies as a mode of punishment. The culprit was stripped to the waist and then obliged to run repeatedly between two lines of soldiers facing one another, each of whom struck at him with a short stick or switch. The word "gauntlet," as here used, has not the meaning usually given it—that of an iron glove—but is simply a corruption of gautlopp or gautlopp, and is derived from the Swedish gautlopp, meaning "running down a lane." Some etymologists, however, derive the word from the German gassenlaufen, which means "running the lane," and others from the Dutch gautloppen, having the same meaning.

WINS SUIT AGAINST CEMETERY FOR LOSS OF WIFE'S BODY

NEW YORK.—Charles Segrist won a verdict for $2,500 against the trustees of St. Raymond's cemetery Saturday for the loss of the body of his wife, who died in the influenza epidemic of 1918.

Testimony showed that the strike of grave diggers caused the accumulation of nearly 100 bodies, all of which eventually were buried by health department order in a trench scooped out with a steam shovel. The cemetery officials were held to have been negligent in failing to keep their records so they identify Mrs. Segrist's body. More than a score of coffins were disinterred in a search for it.

THE WEEK

The federal, but there seems ground for the hope that the dance is nearly over. Probably things will get better from day to day. The suggestion by officers of the American Society for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, that reasons for the existence of the society have ceased, seems more than a stray in the wind. That it may be supplanted by a society formed in this country to lend support to the Irish Free State has a point of significance. World sympathy brought success to the Irish cause. Ireland is too small to wage a successful quarrel with England without the support of public opinion in other countries. There are better times ahead.

Three nationally prominent senators are in the limelight as the election approaches. They are Lodge of Massachusetts; McChesney of North Dakota, and La Follette of Wisconsin. The Lodge fight is set aside for the other two. He is opposed by influential Massachusetts on the ground of inconsistency. Supporters of the League of Nations oppose him for his defeat of that measure. Opponents of the League of Nations oppose him because they regard him as a turncoat upon the theory that the Harding treaties amount to the same thing. He is also in a prohibition "jam," owing to the Massachusetts enforcement department; having proceeded against the governor of that state for a "wine party." In refusing to take a hand, Lodge is earning the resentment of both sides. When the scholar in politics fails to be scholarly he is apt to have trouble. "Out west" we are wont to look upon a senatorial contest in Massachusetts as a fight among the descendants of our Anglo-Saxon forebears. This is far from the truth. Industrial Massachusetts retains few traces of these traditions. Lodge has his labor problem. There is every hint he left in Boston harbor.

A problem in strategy is raised for the republican party by the McChesney and La Follette contests. Although not a member, McChesney has supported the farm bloc in the main. In general he is opposed by the Non-partisan league, but has some supporters in it.

McChesney is chairman of the senate finance committee. Suoni is the ranking member. La Follette is third. Suoni is in line for the chairmanship of the appropriations committee, for which he is ambitious. Should McChesney be defeated, Suoni goes to the appropriations committee, and La Follette is re-elected. La Follette would become chairman of the finance committee. The republican organization fears La Follette in this position because of his hostility to the tariff. His policy is presumed to be to elect McChesney and to defeat La Follette. But North Dakota is very friendly to Senator La Follette. If the republican organization becomes active in opposition to La Follette, word of this fact carried to North Dakota would militate against McChesney's re-election. Although there has been much talk about it, Washington considers maintain that no decision has been reached. It is possible that La Follette will be left alone and republican efforts centered on the re-election of McChesney. The situation is regarded as very distressing by administration leaders.

"Bitter-enders" in the senate fathered a resolution calling upon the president to submit to that body all data bearing upon the negotiation by the arms conference of the four-power treaty. Administration members of the senate did not object, although Senator Lodge intimated that much of the discussion was informal and had not been reduced to writing. The demand for this information probably is not in good faith. The data relates to proceedings in secret conferences. The purpose of open conferences was to give public opinion an opportunity to influence the outcome. Now that the transactions are closed, this data can serve no purpose excepting as a basis of obstructive action which has been accomplished. The resolution is the beginning of a bitter fight that will be waged to destroy the treaty. Time will be wasted and important legislation delayed by this conflict, but it is improbable that the treaties can be defeated, even though the margin of passage be small. The sentiment of America sustains them. The American people have had too many practical experiences in the past few years to retain the illusion of isolation.

First Book Printed in New World
The first book printed in the New World was probably a translation from Latin into Spanish of "The Spiritual Ladder" in 1535. Juan de Zambrana, a Franciscan monk, first bishop of Mexico, printed it. The first book printed in America that contained news to illustrate the text was "The Discovery of Christianity," printed in Mexico City by Juan Pablos in 1541.

DEBATE ON WATERWAY TO FEATURE RIVERS AND HARBORS MEET

Governors Allen of Kansas and Miller of New York Among Principal Speakers

PROPOSERS SEEK EXPRESSION OF OPINION UPON PROJECT

Attempt May be Made to Evade Rule of the Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Debate on the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway project at the annual meeting here March 1 and 2 of the National Rivers and Harbors congress "will not be lacking in animation," according to an advance statement on the meeting issued here Saturday by the congress. Governors Allen of Kansas and Miller of New York, will be two of the principal figures in the discussion.

Indications were contained in the statement that an attempt might be made in the congress to evade the long standing rule against an expression of opinion as to any certain project.

"Some ardent opponents of the St. Lawrence river project," the statement said, "are planning to secure by a flank movement what cannot be obtained by a direct assault. They will argue first before the committee on resolutions and if unsuccessful, then upon the floor of the convention when the resolutions are considered that the congress ought not be neutral on a proposition to expend United States funds on a waterway, a portion of which lies in a foreign country, and they will urge the passage of a resolution demanding that the United States money shall be spent only for the development of waterways within United States territory."

"The advocates of the proposed ship canal will declare that such a resolution, while it does not specifically name any waterway would be, if passed, understood by everybody as putting the congress on record as opposing the development of the St. Lawrence route and would be, therefore, a violation of the policy which has continuously been maintained by the organization since it was founded."

ORDER SUBJECT TO REFERENCE OF MEMBERSHIP

made to report the official vote by which the convention earlier in the day refused to consider the appeal of Alexander Howat and other expelled Kansas miners for reinstatement in the union. The official vote reflecting Howat's appeal by a vote of 2-073 to 1,355, was read amid disorder, which subsided somewhat when Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, and the anti-administration leader, announced that all Illinois delegates would hold a separate meeting here tomorrow.

Mr. Farrington did not announce the purpose of the meeting, but some delegates who had supported Howat, talked of a "ramp movement" within the union. Later Mr. Farrington said the meeting was for the purpose of electing the Illinois members of a wage scale committee, and he refused to confirm or deny that the meeting was called in the interest of Howat. Those followers of Farrington denied that any "ramp movement" was contemplated.

Mother Jones in Plea for Order
The roll call, ending the convention consideration of the Kansas case, was marked by an outbreak of disorder during the morning that blocked all action for a time, but quiet was restored by a speech of Mother Jones, a 62-year-old union organizer, who beseeched the delegates to give respectful consideration to their officials, who had expelled Howat, and that the convention settle down to its main work—the adoption of its wage policy.

President Lewis, in a formal statement after the sine die adjournment, said "extensive efforts" had been made to pack the convention so that it would overthrow the expulsion of Howat.

"The attempt to terrorize and stampede the convention failed miserably," he added. "The organization now will be able to go forward with its wage policies and apply itself to its proper affairs. In conformity with the policy laid down by the convention, I shut in a few days, is another call to the operators of the central competitive field for a meeting at an early date to work out a wage agreement, if possible."

Salt not only makes our food more palatable and nourishing, but also preserves it. Medicinally, salt is of inestimable value, and doctors are finding new uses for it every day. The above picture is of Mrs. L. M. Fine of Chicago.

Ever see it before? Whether you did or not, take a good look now—for this is the last time it's to be printed—maybe!

At least Mrs. Fine's husband hopes so.

Why? Well, just because. When Mrs. Fine was little she was pretty. As she grew she became beautiful. Photographers delighted in snapping her, and her face soon became familiar in many ads.

Then she was married. Her husband found her staring him in the face from calendars, soap wrappers, street car ads and billboards.

Now he's peeved. "Never want to see it again," he declares.

"Tell the world I never got a dime out of it. I support my own wife." So glance at the "ad girl" before she ceases to appear.

MILWAUKEE ELECTION LEGAL IS RULING OF BADGER HIGH COURT

Denies Application of Former City Attorney for Injunction Against Election

MADISON, Wis.—The supreme court Saturday denied the application of Clifton Williams, former Milwaukee city attorney, for an injunction restraining the Milwaukee election commission from holding an election for city attorney at the regular voting for city officials in April.

The court said that "after oral argument and consideration of briefs we have reached the conclusion that the challenged action of the election commission in proposing to give notices for, and the holding of such elections is legal and proper and will not be restrained."

"The allegations of the complaint of Williams," the court found, "are insufficient to state a cause of action and complaint should therefore be dismissed upon its merits."

In view of the shortness of the time before the holding of such election on the first Tuesday in April this present memorandum is now filed as our determination in the matter. A further opinion will be filed later.

Williams, who resigned as city attorney when the election commission decided to hold an election in April, argued that this action would be illegal in view of the act of the 1919 legislature which provided that the mayor, treasurer and controller of Milwaukee would not be chosen until 1924.

He held in an opinion to the commissioners that this statute should be interpreted to mean that no regular election of any city official would be held until 1924, but in this the commissioners disagreed with him.

Williams then applied to the supreme court for an injunction to restrain the election officials from proceeding. The court in its findings Saturday declared the election this year to be legal and proper.

ARMISTICE IN EFFECT OVER MARRIAGE OF MATHILDE MCGORMICK

Father Has Nothing to Say on Subject Till After Family Conference on Sunday

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD WANTS TO WED RIDING MASTER OF 48

Girl Must Also Gain Consent of Mother and Grandfather

CHICAGO, Ill.—Miss Mathilde McCormick, 16-year-old daughter of Harold P. McCormick, millionaire president of the International Harvester company, may know Sunday whether she is to have her father's consent to marry Max Ober, 48-year-old proprietor of a Zurich, Switzerland, riding academy.

Saturday night "an armistice" is in effect between father and daughter at the old Cyrus McCormick residence, where Mr. McCormick has lived since he sold his town and country homes to Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, following their recent divorce.

Mr. McCormick came home from New York to talk matters over with Miss Mathilde, but the discussion was temporarily postponed, and probably will be held at a family council, a Lake Forest Sunday at the home of Mr. McCormick's mother.

"We haven't talked it over yet," Mr. McCormick said. "In fact we have agreed on a sort of armistice for the present."

"Anything I have to say, I will say through my daughter, when the time comes. Of course she has spent half her life in Switzerland and they handle these things differently over there."

He indicated Miss Mathilde's regard for her riding master was not news to the family, but the publicity had taken him by surprise.

If Miss McCormick wins the consent of the father and paternal grandfather at the family conference, family friends say her task will be only one-third accomplished. Her mother, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, and her grandfather, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., are still to be seen.

- "Minimum amount of talk."
- "Maximum amount of action."
- "Partisan politics unknown."

- "Justice the goal."
- "Americanism the standard."
- "Results only for publicity."

NEW YORK.—Babe Ruth has requested a salary "close to $50,000" for 1922. Col. Jacob Ruppert, one of the owners of the Yankees, declared Saturday night in announcing that the home run star was coming east next week to talk things over. Ruth is reported to have received $25,000 last year. Col. Ruppert indicated "there was a chance" of Ruth's getting more money as he considered him a "reasonable man."

There is no chance, however, he added, of Carl Mays, stellar pitcher, receiving more money this year. Mays signed a three year contract at $10,000 a season last year. Col. Ruppert also indicated that the demands of Aaron Ward, second baseman, for a higher salary, would not be complied with. "We are through with them," he said. "They must either sign or stay out."

Your Old Ring in a New Dress

That old, wide, plain gold Wedding Ring can be turned down to a narrow width and have a thick shell of platinum or white gold spun over the outer portions of it and carved in any of the fashionable patterns, without sacrificing any of its sentimental value.

The stamp and everything inside is left untouched. You'll be agreeably surprised with its appearance after the transformation.

We'll gladly explain the process if you'll drop in.

PLANS MADE FOR A NEW NATIONAL FARMERS' SOCIETY

New Organization to be Known as United Farmers' National Bloc

CHICAGO.—Plans for a new farmers' organization, to be known as the United Farmers' National Bloc, were made here today at a conference of farmers from more than twelve states. Among those present was A. C. Townley, president of the National Non-partisan league.

The articles of association adopted at the meeting provided for organization from producers up to a national committee with a committee man from every state, although it was declared the association would generally endorse candidates already in the field. Chicago was selected as the national headquarters.

The platform of the association, as given out, called for government guarantee of the cost of production of staple farm products, taxation of excess profits and heavy income and inheritance taxes, government conservation and operation of natural resources, and restoration to the government of the power to issue credit and currency to be furnished the people at cost.

J. Wells Andrews, of Geneseo, Ill., was elected president.

Harry Sze, cousin of the Chinese minister, is missing; but may have just forgotten his name.

Chats With Your Gas Man

Wherever gas is obtainable—and that is nearly everywhere nowadays—the gas range has taken first place in the kitchen. With the advance in modern conveniences, even insulation, equipment and sanitary construction, there is no method of cooking more efficient for all purposes than gas. Even in remote country districts many householders cook by gas, depending upon shipments of gas in tanks.

As for the big cities, who could imagine them without gas ranges? Try to picture one of our ten-story multiple apartment houses with an old-fashioned coal stove in each apartment and you will realize how revolutionary has been the effect of using gas for cooking.

Talk about the servant problem! Bad as it is for most of us, how much worse it would be if we lacked this sanitary and convenient means of obtaining heat at the moment it is needed.

The gas range has not only eliminated the irksome work of carrying and feeding fuel, but it has made possible cheerful, dainty, alluring kitchens in contrast to the dull and uninviting ones of a few years ago.

Honest Paris
A black satchel containing $53,000 in cash was found on the seat of a Paris omnibus one morning recently, writes a correspondent. It had been forgotten by a bank messenger, who was greatly relieved to find that the conductor of the omnibus had duly delivered it to the lost property office, where it lay among umbrellas and odd gloves awaiting reclamation.

Skinny, watch your dog!
The state is planning a big cleanup of all unlicensed dogs, and has sent word to all county clerks and sheriffs in the state to begin the round-up of all of the Spots and Jacks who are running around loose without license tags.

The following is the text of the word sent out to the county clerks and sheriffs: "Provisions of the Wisconsin Dog Law require that all owners of dogs over six months of age on January 1, must apply for and obtain a license during January of each year."

All dogs which are not licensed during that month are to be impounded and it is unlawful for any owner to harbor or keep such unlicensed dogs. The law provides that any sheriff, deputy, constable, marshal, or other police officer, excepting police officers in cities, is entitled to a fee of $2.00 for each dog seized, impounded or restrained under the provisions of sections 1623 to 1630, inclusive, of the dog law."

Although the law provides that dog license fees must be paid during the month of January, it has been decided to allow payments to be made during February. This was done in order to allow dog owners to pay their license fees at the same time they pay their taxes, time for payment of which has been extended to March 1 in many counties.

After March 1, all delinquent dog owners must be reported to the district attorney. When a dog owner has been reported to the district attorney as being delinquent, he must still pay his license fee to the treasurer in addition to the penalties imposed by the dog law, which provides for fines of from five to fifty dollars for each violation.

After March 1, the dog law will be rigidly enforced, so now is the time to act to save "Tige" and his brethren from the poundmaster.

Never again, perhaps will there be 110 violators of the prohibition act hated into United States court as La Crosse in one day to afford the spectacle which kept the town agog a year ago, when Judge Landis had a field day in court here. W. H. Dougherty, of Janesville, who succeeded Albert Wolfe as federal prosecuting attorney, maintains that it is undignified for the United States court to stoop to the level of a police court and occupy its time and expensive machinery with petty prohibition cases. "The dignity of the federal courts should not be made a common vehicle of petty cases," said Mr. Dougherty in making known his attitude on this question. "Such trials should be dealt with quickly in municipal courts and save federal courts for larger cases of interstate traffic in liquor and larger liquor fines." This statement explains why federal prohibition agents working in La Crosse county have started a large majority of their cases in Judge Bradley's court recently. As a result the cases have been quickly disposed of. There is no grand jury to hear the violations and return indictments, and there is no six months' jail necessary when a criminal action is started in the county court. Incidentally Uncle Sam is saving a lot of money and the business of enforcing the Volstead act is being greatly expedited.

A matter of gossip which may or may not be of interest here is a story which comes from Madison. The item follows: "Bootleggers who use automobiles to carry booze can insure their cars against confiscation by authorities and escape without a loss, according to disclosures made in police investigations here. One of the bootlegger's friends or a member of the company takes a mortgage on the car for practically its full value. When the car is confiscated and sold at auction, the mortgage must be satisfied, and the whiskey ring gets the value of the machine, while the county has the trouble of selling it."

Superintendent C. F. Guller, in charge of the fish rescue work on the upper Mississippi, fessed up when he was in the city a few days ago that he was just a little bit worried over the bill pending in congress providing for the establishment of a fish rescue station and headquarters in La Crosse, and designed to result in the building of a $100,000 plant here. He expressed the opinion that if the measure did not get through the senate this session, chances of its passage in the future were remote. All of the required preliminary work has been done for this bill, and the lawmakers should be thoroughly acquainted with the facts with the value of the fish rescue activities, inasmuch as the rescue crews, working under Guller's direction, each year save more fish than all the federal hatcheries produce, it does not seem possible that this measure can fail. To correct a mistaken impression which has gotten abroad, it might be advisable to assert again that the Houder fish hatchery is to be retained in its present location. The La Crosse fish rescue station plan has no connection whatever with the Winona county institution.

A friend of this family journal who has been at home nursing a bad cold for several days, in lieu of something better to do, allowed his imagination to run riot a day or two ago. As a result of his prophetic vision he penned a series of interesting local items for this paper which he headed "Clipped From Tribune Files Twenty-Three Years Hence." Requesting our readers to peruse these paragraphs in the same facetious spirit in which they were written and make full allowance for the man with the cold, we are publishing the vision in toto.

"The second series of the Knitting contest for members of the La Crosse Club was held at their club rooms last night, and was largely attended. Refreshments, consisting of junk tea, raspberry bouillon and wafers were served at 9:00 o'clock after which all joined in playing 'drop the handkerchief' and 'pussy wants a corner' until ten o'clock at which time the party broke up."

"The ladies of the Common Council held a meeting at the city hall last night, at which time the matter of appointing a male weed inspector was thoroughly discussed."

"Miss Mrs. H. Jones accompanied by her daughter, Miss A. Jones, left by airship Saturday night for New York, to spend Sunday with friends, returning Monday morning. Mrs. Jones was also accompanied by her husband."

"Gabe Warden Olson arrested two of our leading citizens Saturday night, whom he found in a woodshed in the rear of their homes under suspicious circumstances. When taken to the police station a pack of cards was found in the pockets of one and a number of matches were taken from the other. Both were arraigned before Judge Clara Anthony and bound over to the circuit court. One of the defendants at the parties, the names are withheld at this time, a large attendance is expected at the normal fish on Saturday p. m., at which time the normal croquet club will meet the Onataga club to compete for the championship of La Crosse."

When Normanna Sang for Ole Bull

In 1870, the year following the organization of Normanna Sangerkor, Ole Bull, the famous violinist, gave a concert in Madison. This concert was planned to be a benefit for the library of the state university. The world-renowned musician had heard of the only Norwegian American singing society and asked the Normanna Sangerkor of La Crosse to assist in this concert.

The society gladly accepted this flattering invitation from the master and had the inestimable pleasure of sharing a program with him. After the concert Ole Bull entertained the members at his own home which is now the governor's mansion.

Simon Lee, veteran member of the Sangerkor, says: "Often we had difficulty getting a director in those early days, but whatever happened we met on the regular night, and if we could do nothing else, talked of boys come by. We were always hoping for better days and we worked for them and now we feel repaid."

"It makes me feel good to see the younger men flocking around the singers' banner and to know they will continue the work that is dear to us. But the realization that our ambition and our work are beginning to be so truly understood and appreciated is the greatest pleasure of all."

Here's a tribute of the Ibsen club:

"The Ibsen club, as the Norwegian literary society of La Crosse, has for many years had numerous interests in common with the Normanna Sangerkor, the local organization of Norwegian singers. The Normanna has with its music added much to the pleasure of Ibsen club social gatherings and the club deeply appreciates the spirit of the singing society as manifested both in this friendly fashion and in the active part it has taken for fifty-two years past in the life of La Crosse."

"The Ibsen club wishes at this time to express its admiration for the Normanna Sangerkor, to wish the society continued success and to hope the approaching concert will have as hearty support from all the friends of Normanna as it will have from the Ibsen club. (Signed)

"THE IBSEN CLUB."

Mrs. Emma Oberg who came to La Crosse in the fall of 1879 entertains many of the pleasant recollections of the activities of the Normanna Sangerkor. Said Mrs. Oberg: "One night early in the fall after we came to La Crosse, a beautiful night, bright and moonlight, the Normanna then numbering twenty-one members, came and serenaded us. They were so so soft and suddenly burst into song. Oh—it is a lovely memory."

"That was a custom of the society, to serenade the newly-weds. There were many other friendly customs. One was the big annual picnic. The families of all the members would be there. Everyone would have a jolly time and there was much singing. The best of it was that the hearts of the children were filled with the spirit of song and soon they too were singing the beautiful and well-loved songs their parents had brought with them from the home-land."

loud" and "Tannhauser" are to be given.

PLANS CONCERT FRIDAY AT NORMAL AS MOST AMBITIOUS EFFORT IT HAS MADE LOCALLY

(BY H. MARGARET JOSTEN)

NORMANNA SANGERKOR, which will appear in concert Friday evening, February twenty-fourth under the direction of E. O. Forseth, and which is to be assisted on that occasion by Joel Mossberg, baritone, of Chicago, and Louise Knudsen, pianist, of this city, is an organization of thirty La Crosse men and the oldest Norwegian-American singing society in the United States. It was founded in June, 1880 and though it struggled through some difficult and discouraging years in the fifty-two and a half years of its existence the initial enthusiasm and love of music which motivated the first meetings still inspire its members.

This society has long been well known away from home. In 1891 the chorus sang at the Scandinavian Sangerfest at Minneapolis and received special mention. It also appeared with credit to itself and to the city at the great festival at the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893. During the coming summer it will carry its banner to Sioux City, Iowa, where it will take an important part in the great festival there. At home Normanna has always been generous with its music, printed programs from 1872 to 1922 giving proof of the society's interest not only in their own music project but in every sort of musical and charitable enterprise in the community. The organization has an old and enviable record as a part of this community which it is proper to call to mind in view of the approaching concert which is so thoroughly deserving of public support.

Mr. Rolf Rynning, an active member of the society and the son of E. B. Rynning, one of the men whose perseverance and unflinching spirit helped to carry the Sangerkor through some of the most trying years, has compiled from early records of the society a brief history of its career.

Emil Berg First Director

The Normanna Sangerkor, founded in 1880 sang under the direction of Emil Berg until 1874. The earliest printed program preserved to record an appearance of the organization is headed "Open Air Concert," Wells, Minn., July 4, 1872. In 1874 the Normanna Sangerkor consolidated with the old Scandinavian Society under the name "Norden Society" and for a year so little singing was done that in 1875 a group of singers organized once more for a purely musical purpose. With Prof. Amundson as director it presently resumed the name Normanna Sangerkor. The men active in this reorganization were H. G. Haugen, C. R. Jackwitz and Emil Borresen.

Emil Berg became director in 1877 and retained the position until 1886. In April of that year for some reason the details of which are more or less buried in the haze of the past Mr. Berg and four members withdrew and organized a singing section in the Norden. The men remaining were eleven in number and included all the officers except the librarian. April found the two organizations waging a heated controversy over the possession of the name "Normanna Sangerkor" through the newspapers of La Crosse and vicinity. The majority number finally secured themselves in their right to the already honorable title by executing articles of incorporation under the name "Normanna Sangerkor." The singing section of the Norden Society went some time under the name Normanna Sangerkor of the Norden Society causing some confusion and occasional small fights in the papers but presently the name seems to have been replaced by "La Crosse Norske Sangerkor." The members of the incorporated Normanna in 1881 were, Emil Borresen, president; S. Borresen, vice-president; Gerhard Bohne, secretary and treasurer; E. B. Rynning, musical director; E. E. Seidstad, Lars Amundrud, Peter Strom, John Bollerne, Math Pederson, I. H. Eng, P. T. Amley, Ole Pederson, C. M. Steenberg, M. Vannabo, H. Haugen, N. C. Saxvig and A. A. Borreson.

Lapse of Four Years

Normanna now began to hold its meetings on the North Side at Union Hall and continued to do so until 1890. On May 26, 1884, the organization adjourned indefinitely or until such time as the director should have more leisure and it should be possible to recruit some new members. The reunion meeting was finally held April 16, 1888 and the following officers were elected: Simon Borreson, president; N. C. Saxvig, vice-president; H. Haugen, secretary; L. Amundrud, treasurer; trustees, John Holby, N. C. Saxvig, and O. Johnson; Librarian, Otto Lee; E. B. Rynning, director. One of the first acts of the Sangerkor was to serenade Mr. and Mrs. Rynning on the occasion of their fifth wedding anniversary in May.

Early among the Norwegian singers of La Crosse had always seemed an important ideal to be achieved so in July, 1890, by vote of the Normanna, Mr. Rynning was appointed a committee of the one to interview the members of the Norske Sangerkor individually to learn their wishes in the matter. Normanna decided that if the response should be favorable the group was to be admitted as a body. So great was the success of the mission that at the meeting of July 21, 1890, twenty members of the La Crosse Norske Sangerkor applied for admittance and were voted into Normanna.

The Last Obstacle

The meeting then adjourned in a most amiable spirit to the hall of the now extinct Norske Sangerkor on the South Side where the minutes of the meeting just adjourned were read and adopted and the following officers were elected to govern the reunion. Louis Streeter, president; Simon Borreson, vice-president; Otto Borreson, secretary; N. G. Hillestad, treasurer; trustees, John Jorsrud, E. B. Rynning, trustees, John Jorsrud, E. B. Rynning, Simon Lee, musical director, Emil Berg. From that time to the present the history of the Normanna Sangerkor has been one of the almost constant progress.

SHERIFF CANNOT BE A CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED HIMSELF

MADISON, — Sheriffs now in office may not be candidates to succeed themselves in the September primaries, despite the fact that an amendment to the constitution will be voted on in November authorizing peace officers to serve successive terms. William J. Morgan, attorney general today held in an opinion to find Jones, district attorney of Waukesha county.

"Until the constitutional amendment is adopted by the vote of the people, as provided in the statute enacted by the last legislature, sheriffs are ineligible to succeed themselves under Article 4 Section IV of the constitution."

"There is no possibility of making sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves prior to the first Monday in November, 1922."

SIX MILLION FACE STARVATION IN 3 CHINESE PROVINCES

SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 17.—By The Associated Press.—More than six million people are facing starvation in the provinces of Kiangsu in which Shanghai is located, and Chekiang and Anhwei, according to estimates compiled here. Unprecedented floods which wiped out 20 per cent of the rice crop in this district are blamed for the shortage of food.

THINGS MUSICAL

BY H. MARGARET JOSTEN

A concert program presented by the La Crosse musical organization, the Normanna Sangerkor, the oldest active singing society in the city, the oldest Norwegian-American singing society in the United States and without exception the finest male chorus for miles around, is in itself an occasion. To have featured on this program a brilliant, young pianist who belongs to La Crosse as does Miss Knudsen much increases the interest. Yet to this is added the attraction of the first singing of a number, the work of a local composer and that man the director of Normanna, E. O. Forseth.

Mr. Joel Mossberg, baritone of Chicago, who is a soloist of the evening will without doubt give great pleasure to his audience and should afford ample opportunity for the finest work of the Sangerkor to be brought out.

Cross county. Coach Anderson expects a livelier contest than that of last Saturday at which time two male bats were broken and one ball lost.

"Mrs. I. Will Dolt left last night for Speedunk, N. Y., where she has accepted a position as manager of the street railway in that city. Mr. Dolt and the children will remain here for the present."

"Don't fail to attend the Ping Pong contest at the Elks hall Saturday night. A leather tin can will be presented to the best player at this meeting."

"Seats are now on sale for the production of 'Little Red Riding Hood' to be given by the men's sewing circle of the Eagles' Lodge Friday night. Admission, Ladies 50 cents. Children, 25 cents, accompanied by a lady. 25 cents."

"A large attendance is expected at the normal fish on Saturday p. m., at which time the normal croquet club will meet the Onataga club to compete for the championship of La Crosse."

of the program can attract greater interest than will the major portion contributed by La Crosse musicians. The program of the concert, which occurs Friday, February 24 at the Normal school auditorium is as follows:

(a) Ekema Maj (Beautiful May)... Joel Mossberg.
(b) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.
(c) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.
(d) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.
(e) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.
(f) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.
(g) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.
(h) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.
(i) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.
(j) The Blue Bird... Joel Mossberg.

Speaking of the musical interest of the Normanna Sangerkor, Edna Gunnar Peterson-Thompson, remarked: "The organization was particularly fortunate in having Miss Knudsen appear with them. Miss Knudsen is extremely gifted," said Mrs. Thompson, "and should go far in her art. La Crosse is fortunate in having so many splendid teachers of the piano and Miss Knudsen is an excellent example of the teaching which can be obtained here."

The composition "Asgardstien," the work of the versatile director of Normanna, E. O. Forseth, is built "Asgardstien" around an ages old legend of Norse mythology. The word suggests an attack of "Aster" the gods, upon "Aster," the spirits of evil and darkness. Then, God of war, rides across the heavens in his war chariot, he hurls "Mjolner," his hammer, which always cleaves the skull of a "Jaetter" when thrown and returns of its own volition to Thor's hand. Thus it thunders and lightning flashes. The harder the thunder crashes the fiercer the battle rages and the closer it is to "Asgardstien" or the end of the world. The wanderer trembles and throws himself on the ground in fear for "Asgardstien" is passing in the storm."

Since the Raper and Crazies concert last Monday night the Music Study Club has been receiving responses to the request made at that time for an expression of opinion from patrons and a statement of the number of tickets for which each is likely to subscribe, the coming season. Although the chorus thus far have not been large enough to assure the club of a support sufficient to the size of the financial burden assumed in giving such a course they have been encouraging and have expressed much appreciation and approval of the work of the club.

One La Crosse patron stated the number of tickets she would use during the next season and added: "By all means continue the course. It would be a distinct loss to the community if it were abandoned."

A man from Stoddard wrote, "I will take one ticket and I will fill my car with people from here who also want to hear the concert."

A young lady from Stoddard answered, "I certainly will patronize your course and I will sell tickets here for you."

From Winona came the cordial response, "Surely we will support your course if it continues to maintain its present standard of excellence."

A La Crosse man's reply was this: "I'll want four tickets but please let the management to turn off the heat."

As stated earlier in the week in this paper the Chicago Opera company will be in St. Paul March 16, 17, 18, "Lancelotti and Juliet," "Thais," "Sa-

OBRECHT STOCK CO. TO BRING "BUDDIES" TO THEATER SUNDAY

Notable Comedy With Music
Will be Revived; Success
Here Two Years Ago

"Buddies" recalled here from its engagement two seasons ago as one of the funniest and funniest comedies with music of a good many years, will be revived at the La Crosse Theatre Sunday by the Obrecht Stock company.

Picture a quaint French farm-yard, peopled with good-natured, happy-go-lucky American soldiers, who are waiting the call to go home, and you have the starting point of "Buddies," the famous George V. Hobert post-war play that was one of the most successful comedies Broadway has had in years.

In addition to being a glimpse of the life that many of our soldier boys in France, "Buddies" is a real play; replete with types irresistible humor and an occasional touch of pathos. Julie's brother had given his life for France at Verdun, and was worshipped in memory by his sister, Portia, for whom he had worked in New York before answering the call of his country, claims that he robbed him and comes to France to demand payment or the exposure of the dead hero. In order to save herself from marrying this man, Julie has to provide a prospective husband, Babe, the man whom she loves and the man who loves her, being too timid to propose, she asks Sonny, who has a fiancée in Brooklyn, to play the role of lover until Pettipiece goes. Sonny agrees, Babe misunderstands the situation, the Brooklyn fiancée arrives and—there you are.

One of the most intensely human features of the play is the skillful

TELEPHONE GIRL IS INJURED; POLICE PUZZLED BY CASE

Myrtle Klaber Tells Mother She Ran into Gate to Escape Man;
Unable to Explain Later

Myrtle Klaber, 18 years old, a telephone operator employed by the La Crosse Telephone company, was the victim of a peculiar accident Friday night. One version of the case reported to the police was that she was accosted by a man near Seventh and Tyler street and in running away from him, ran into a gate, and was injured about the nose and cheek. Another report to the police is that the girl remembers running into the gate but cannot for the reasons for her meeting with the accident.

building at 10 o'clock Friday night. Accompanied by another girl she went to view the Longfellow school fire. Remaining there a few minutes she boarded a streetcar for her home, at 1511 South Tenth street. She left the car at Seventh and Tyler streets. At 10:15 p. m. she reached home and told her mother that a strange man had spoken to her and in running away from him she collided with a gate at 923 Tyler street, tearing it from its hinges and falling to the sidewalk, injuring her nose, cheek and knee. The police were notified by the mother a few minutes after midnight.

When the police arrived at the Klaber home, the mother told them the story the girl had told her. Questioning the girl failed to reveal any further details. Later in the morning when questioned again Miss Klaber was unable to tell just what did happen to her after she left the street car. The police were able to follow Miss Klaber's trail from the place where the gate had been torn off to her home, by spots of blood on the sidewalk.

FIRST NATIONAL WEEK OPENS WITH "TOL'ABLE DAVID" AT RIVOLI

Tomorrow inaugurates "First National Week" at the Rivoli and Majestic theatres, the week to be signified by the showing of some of the most recent releases of famous stars for this well-known distributing organization. The "kick-off" at the Rivoli is Richard Barthelmess's long-heralded picture "Tol'able David."

Not only is the story an unusual one, but it marks a new era in the selection of stories for the screen. It was written by Joseph Hergeheimer and from the time he read it, Mr. Barthelmess longed for the opportunity to enact the role of David, because it was such a sympathetic character of youthful ambitions. However, Mr. Hergeheimer had heretofore refused to permit any of his writings to be utilized for the screen.

Mr. Barthelmess met Mr. Hergeheimer. After that, the story was purchased by D. W. Griffith, but when Mr. Barthelmess signed to appear for three years under the management of Inspiration Pictures, arrangements were made with Mr. Griffith, so that his protegee could have his desire of starring in this picture realized.

"The mountaineers are intensely religious," said Mr. Barthelmess, "and the Bible is their favorite literature. We soon learned that in this idea of David, the author had in mind the biblical story of David and Goliath. The chief villain in the story is a giant and it will be recalled that in the biblical story David slew him."

"We were fortunate in having Mr. Hergeheimer with us during the filming of the story, as he picked out the locations and was of great assistance in aiding us in getting the local color."

Old and New

Featured the last half of the week will be the two Norma Talmadge pictures, which illustrate the "Tribune Movie Essay" contest now on—one of them Norma's latest, the other one of Norma's first, "Daughter of the Chorus" is the old two-reeler dating from "way back when," and "The Wonderful Thing" is the brand-new 1922 model.

"The Wonderful Thing" begins in the picturesque circles of England and ends on a log ranch in Iowa—actually the Bradley-Harbold ranch, the largest producer of porkers in the country.

The role of Catherine Mannerby, Talmadge, leader of the opposition against the admission of the daughter of the American Hog King into the socially prominent Mannerby family, is played by Mrs. Lydia Hoyt, one of the younger of the ranking society matrons of New York, Newport and Washington.

Miss Talmadge portrays the role of Jacqueline Boggs, the French-educated daughter of the American Hog King. "The Wonderful Thing" comes into her life when she meets Donald Mannerby, the oldest son of an impoverished aristocratic English family, who is an ineffectual flirt. His love making, done without any serious intent, arouses real love on her part. An act of a week younger brother makes the raising of a large amount of money by Donald an imperative matter, and even while losing himself as a cad, he marries due for her wealth. She is utterly happy for a time and Donald learns to love her, and then she discovers his real object in marrying her. Pride causes her to leave him, but the story ends happily in her own home in town.

MONTIE BLUE, MIRIAM COOPER AND DE HAVENS AT MAJESTIC THIS WEEK

Have you ever had an uncontrollable desire to see to the magnificent so as to impress someone with your importance? On the assumption that you will answer this question in the affirmative Allan Evans has produced "A Perfect Crime," a comedy drama based on the desirability and even importance of lying in an intelligent way. The picture shows at the Majestic Theatre today only.

Montie Blue has the role of Wally Greaves, a timid bank messenger whom every one despises for his stupidity. Suddenly Wally, the worm, turns. He begins to lie. He tells magnificent and thrilling yarns about things which never happened on land or sea. His ridiculous yarns are published and he wins a beautiful girl who had ignored him in his honest days.

Miriam Cooper Monday

Miriam Cooper, famous beauty and social film artist, plays the feminine lead in "Serenade," a romance of old Spain at the Majestic tomorrow.

Wednesday, Miss Cooper, who is of French descent, was born in Baltimore, Maryland, and received her education there and in New York City, where she attended the New York Art School.

Her first appearance on the screen was with the Reliance Majestic Company, where she won instant recognition for her histrionic ability. D. W. Griffith chose her later to be one of the Cameron sisters in "The Birth of a Nation," and as "The Lonely One" in "Intolerance."

Miss Cooper was cast in the title role of "Blanchette," while, with Fox, and her portrayal of that role has been pronounced by critics as "cinematographically perfect."

De Havens Thursday

"My Lady Friends" starring Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Havens, will be the attraction at the Majestic, starting on Thursday.

The picture has been adapted from the farce of the same name which ran for many months on Broadway and was characterized as one of the funniest plays ever written. In its transformation into a motion picture scores of additional laughs have been injected into it, with the result that it is one of the most humorous pictures ever produced.

The story details the difficulties which beset a man who out of the kindness of his heart has befriended three girls—the "lady friends." All three of them mistake his motives, which are of the purest, and when all of them decide simultaneously to visit his summer home, "Chickadee Cottage," in Atlantic City, there was the desire to pay for Mr. Smith had neglected to inform his wife of the existence of his friends.

WHY LYTELL LIKES TO PLAY "CROOKS"

"I've been called the best crook in the screen world—and I'm wondering just how complimentary the remark is."

Bert Lytell, having finished production of his new Metro picture, "Alas Lady Fingers," a story by Jackson Gregory, adapted for the screen by Eugene J. Coffee, he is once more cast as an expert cracksmen, of a type similar to that which he portrayed in "Alas Lady Valentine," "Boston Blackie's Little Pal," and "Boston Blackie's Redemption."

It will appear at the Rivoli Sunday.

"It's true that these crook plays have been among my most successful pictures," Mr. Lytell continued, "and I must confess I like my parts in them about as well as any that I have played. I don't believe it is because I have a fellow feeling for crooks in general, as a matter of fact, they have always seemed to me about the most despicable of crimes."

STAR DOES CLEVER RIDING IN PICTURE

"No Defense," which will be shown at the Casino theatre on Sunday is based on an original story by J. Raleigh Davies, and is a Western production in which William Fennell and Elith Johnson are co-stars.

Some of the old "Bill" Duncan rough riding is seen in the picture. The story gives the star opportunity to play the business and society man, as well as the rugged Westerner, the type of role in which he recently has become so closely associated.

There is plenty of action in the Western country and the happy blending of two types for the here is due to the fact that he has taken unto himself a wife and is without sufficient means to support them both. He seeks his fortune in the gold fields of the West. There an unfortunate circumstance makes him an outcast, hunted by men, and his return to civilization not only complicates matters, but leads to an exciting denouement. An adequate cast is seen in support of the two stars.

VAUDEVILLE PROSPECTS

At the Hennepin in Minneapolis this last week a vaudeville act called "Mind Your Own Business" has been knocking 'em dead with its laughable situations and clever lines. So Majestic patrons have something in store for them Sunday, when this same act is to open the bill.

Other acts for Sunday are Barber and Jackson in "Nothing Serious," just mirth and melody; Matty Lee Lippard and Co. in a song cycle with trimmings; Lohsey and Sterling; George Hall the globetrotter and Glick and Bright—"bundles of personality."

Monday's bill for the first three days next week looks good, too. There's a seven-people revue, for one thing, which is of the district school species but repaid to be much more classy than the run of such and entirely free from the usual bankrupt acts of this sort. There's Billy Knight's twenty talented rosters, doing nothing that any rooster could be deemed of to accomplish, an act that is unique on the stage and has proved elsewhere a sure-fire laugh getter. Then there is dancing and other odd stunts by Collins and Hill, Seeman Sisters, the "Melody Maids," and La Vines in "White, Black and White."

BADGER PRODUCERS PROTEST SALE OF SKIM MILK CHEESE

MADISON, Wis.—Means of stopping the continued manufacture of "skimmed cheese," a product made from skimmed milk largely shipped from Wisconsin, are to be considered by the state milk marketing committee which meets here Tuesday.

The Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation, concerned over sale of the product at five cents lower than the full cream Wisconsin cheese, has called attention to the serious situation, which it says this skimmed cheese is causing in the industry, and has appealed for some action.

In a letter to Edward Nordman, chairman of the committee, F. G. Swoboda, general manager of the Cheese Producers' federation, says that "stores are protesting against the skimmed cheese that is flooding the market and ask the cooperation of the federation to stop misrepresentation."

Wisconsin, he said, "prohibits its manufacture, but curd is shipped to Chicago and made in daisy styles, thus evading the Wisconsin law, but the consumer does not know he is not getting full cream cheese."

What Kind of Importer?

"Yes," said the prosperous looking man in the smoking car, "I have business connections in Cuba."

The MOST HONEST ADVERTISEMENT EVER PRINTED

On oath, Manager of Rivoli swears to power of "Tol'able David"

READ HIS SWORN AFFIDAVIT:

Affidavit

I, F. L. Koppelerberger solemnly and truly declare that no picture I have shown this year has had—

- the dramatic suspense or vivid reality of the fight in "Tol'able David."
- the true, lovable humanness of this story of a boy who wanted to be a man and got an opportunity of proving himself.
- the sweetness of appeal that is in the mother-love of a mountain-mother for this boy.
- the remarkable characterizations, the grip, the magnetic force which radiates from every reel of this splendid picture.

And I solemnly affirm that in my opinion "Tol'able David" ranks with the three greatest screen dramas of this year.

MRS. JACK BRAHMER was a most delightful hostess on Friday afternoon at Pioneer hall at a dinner-bridge party. Twelve tables were played and the favors were awarded to Mrs. Walter S. Woods and Mrs. Irving H. Ruggles. On Saturday Mrs. Brahmer and her mother, Mrs. J. K. Wallace, entertained at cards at the hall.

THE ANNUAL POUND party held at the La Crosse Home for Women and Children, 409 South Eleventh street, on Valentine's day, was very successful as well as an enjoyable affair. Friends called during the day with donations of groceries and money as well as some children's clothing, which was greatly appreciated by the board of managers. Mrs. John Brindley, Mrs. G. Van Steenweg and Mrs. A. Hirschheimer received the guests and Mrs. Bart Merdink was in general charge. Coffee was served by Mrs. L. E. Easton assisted by Mrs. E. M. Wing and Mrs. A. J. Capellen.

Valentine Ball.
A VALENTINE BALL was given by the E. M. R. A. of the Marinello Company at Pioneer hall Thursday night. Hearts and festoons of flowers decorated the room and programs in the shape of valentines were distributed to the guests. The room was decorated with blue and gray ribbon surmounted by the inevitable elephant, which was most artistically arranged along the stage and at regular intervals around the room.

The grand march was led by the huge Marinello elephant followed by Mr. and Mrs. Manner and other members of the Marinello family and guests.

At an appointed hour the orchestra struck up the "Star Spangled Banner" and this occasioned the unfurling of hundreds of little flags which floated gracefully on high from one end of the hall to another.

One of the prettiest dances was the "Bubble Waltz." At this time an immense red heart, approximately six feet in length, suspended from the middle of the ceiling, opened up automatically and dozens of small balloons of all hues, representing bubbles, dropped on the dancers, while fluttering therefrom were narrow blue satin ribbons, each ending in a valentine or sweetheart sachet. These were within reaching distance of dancers and were claimed as souvenirs. At the same time larger balloons came floating through the air from the balcony. Another dance which caused much merriment was the "Broom dance." The guests numbered 125 couples.

The two serving tables were enhanced by roses, carnations and daffodils, with three halcyon candle sticks at each end. A bride's and bridegroom's cake featured the feast. HENRY FORD MAKES HIS LUMBERMEN COMFORTABLE

The character of the lumber camp has been entirely changed recently by Henry Ford. The camps which are on his properties are new models in their way. They are regularly laid out with the best possible sanitary conditions, are maintained in an orderly and clean condition and comforts and conveniences which are ordinarily out of the reach of the lumberman are there to be found. Bath rooms are provided in numbers so that there is no reason for the lumber jack being anything but clean, and reading rooms and entertainment halls are to enable him to while his idle hours profitably. The cooking is done by good cooks and the laundry work is looked after by a woman who sees that the clothing is not only clean when distributed to the men, but that the pieces are properly mended and in good order. Mr. Ford visits these camps regularly and takes a great deal of personal pride in the improved conditions. It is said that it pays in that he never has any lack of help and that the men are interested in their work.

LA CROSSE WOMAN IS MATRON OF AN UNIQUE MISSIONARY SCHOOL

MRS. ROSINA KRAHN
TEACHING INDIANS IN AMERICAN WAY

Reformed Church Starts Splendid Institution for Winnebagoes at Neillville

Mrs. Rosina Krahn, widow of Rev. A. Krahn, who resided in Twenty-third street up to the time she left La Crosse last summer, is the matron of the boarding school for Winnebago Indian children, established at Neillville by the Reformed church. Mrs. Krahn was Miss Rosina Hauser before her marriage.

Parishioners of St. John's and Trinity Reformed churches in this city are deeply interested in this institution, which is unique in missionary activities in this section of the state.

The school opened at Neillville by the Reformed church of the United States for the education of the children of the Winnebago tribe of Indians, marks the completion of a long deferred scheme for the development of the children of this impoverished tribe. The building cost about $75,000, and is on the outskirts of Neillville, on the banks of Black river. The grounds consist of 20 acres.

The Winnebago tribe has no lands and for thirty-six years several missionaries of the Reformed church have been caring for as many of the children as possible in their own homes at Black River Falls. This work has been successful, but the number aided was insignificant. The idea was broached of building a school for this purpose and a number of cities in this part of Wisconsin were sounded on the matter. Neillville was finally chosen and work on the building was completed early in 1920.

Church Buys Land

Contrary to the usual custom, the church did not ask a large donation laundry, with electrical machinery, form part of the equipment.

Give Children Clothing

There is no revenue from the school. None of the pupils pays anything, even clothing being furnished in some cases. The children, help with the work and are taught sewing, cooking and domestic science. They take a great interest in the work and their progress is as rapid as that of the white children.

Mr. Stucki said that he has applications for more than 200 pupils who cannot be accommodated. This is in addition to the work at Black River Falls, which is being continued by the Rev. Mr. Stucki.

In the woods eight miles from Black River Falls, the mission was begun in 1878. A day school was opened at once and ten children were present the first day. The next day the first sermon was, "Behold, the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world." The work of preaching and teaching has continued regularly until today.

Rev. Jacob Hauser served as missiary from 1878-1883, and Rev. Jacob Stucki since 1883.

In the school, 300 Winnebagoes have received at least the beginning of an English education. Six of these have passed beyond the grades and have taken high school and even college work.

Preaching services were held for years before the first concert was given. During those years, the Winnebagoes came in considerable number to these services. Huts were kept on, pipes were smoked, tobacco juice was spit carelessly about, arguments were started among the hearers, the missionary was stopped, grunts of disapproval were common, and occasionally an individual would stalk from the room. After the first concert, were banished, a gradual change set in. Today the audiences are as reverent as in any service of the pale face, even though Winnebagoes are always present. Sixty persons have been baptized and received into the church. Streams of Christian influence have gone out from that little band. The life and conduct of the heathen Winnebagoes for fifty miles around has been profoundly changed. Practically all may be classed as "friendly outsiders." The Christian Indians are all willing and able publicly to pray or give testimony to their faith. There have been no backsliders. No convert has disgraced the church. Unless sick or away from home, no Christian Winnebago ever misses a Sunday service.

An Example

We note that a Chicago man murdered his wife because she was too "extraneous."

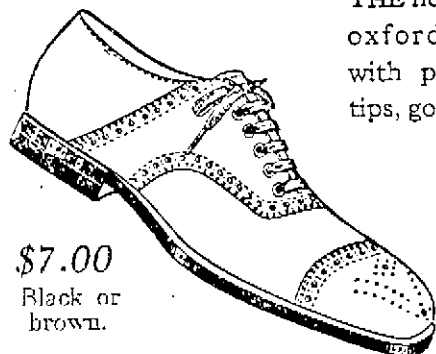

We hold this is going altogether too far. Not for a minute would we induce or countenance or approve such drastic methods, but we see no objection in every married man reading the item aloud to his wife as a warning.—Detroit Free Press.

Well Supplied

A prominent politician, although a Scotchman, relates a story against himself and his fellow countrymen. While on a visit to the Canary Islands once he was feeling very lonely and inquired of an official, "Are there many Scotchmen in these parts?" "Not many," was the reply. "Just a few, but quite enough."

PROSPECTIVE home builders will be vitally interested in the above table of carrying charges estimated on a $5,000 frame house, adding $350 as the extra cost for masonry on a 7% basis in accordance with the percentage table of averaged construction costs given below.

Low Annual Carrying Charges on a MASONRY-BUILT Home Far Overbalances Slight Extra Original Cost

During the first ten years you live in your house you get back your $350 extra investment and save $828.72 in addition as a result of building a Masonry-Built Home. After that you save the full $1178.72 every ten years.

And this does not consider the greater comfort and enjoyment, the lower heating costs, the increased healthfulness, and the security from fire given by the Masonry-Built Home. You must also remember that at the end of the first ten years, depreciation places a sales value of $4000 on the frame house and $5082.50 for the Masonry Built Home.

Less than 7% Difference in Original Cost

"How much more than frame will a brick or hollow tile house cost me?" is a question frequently asked. To answer it, The American Face Brick Association compiled the following table, based on nineteen estimates secured on a standard house, to show the average difference in cost of the five types of wall construction illustrated.

Year	Frame Construction		Veneer Construction	Eight-Inch Masonry Wall
	Siding on Frame	Shed on Frame	Face Brick Veneer	Face Brick on Hollow Tile	Face Brick on Common
1910	0.0	2.9%	6.9%	10.7%	9.1%
1913	0.0	4.0%	5.9%	—	8.9%
1915	0.0	1.6%	4.9%	—	6.9%
1919	0.0	0.5%	4.4%	6.5%	6.1%

While the average cost of Masonry-Built Homes is shown by this table to be between 6% and 7% more than frame, it is essential to know that the difference in costs in the individual bids ranged from 1.5% more to 1.0% less than frame. This variation is due to local market conditions for materials and to the bidding contractor's familiarity and skill in the various methods of construction. The yearly trend of these figures shows a constant reduction in the difference in costs.
